White Appointed SG Sec. of State

The appointment of Chip White to the cabinet post of Sec. of State was announced today by Student Body President Larry Gonzalez.

Outlining his plans, White said, the Sec. of State my responsibility will be to promote good will for FSU and the student body both in the Tallahassee area and throughout the state of Florida.

Citing the Educational Analysis Bureau and Student Athletic Recruitment Committee as two "trouble spots" of his office White said, much can be done both for FSU and for higher education in the state through a positive program in these areas.

"My greatest concern for the coming year will be the establishment of a students' Better Business Bureau (BBB). The need for this bureau was first realized by Larry Gonzalez while serving as Student Body Vice President, and it has since received wide support from the students," explained White.

Continuing he stated, "The primary purpose of the BBB will be to serve as a safeguard against unfair business practices of local merchants and to protect the economic benefits for the student body."

As a honor student, White is enrolled in a "co-op" program in engineering science alternating his school attendance each trimester with employment with Cape Kennedy. Upon graduation he plans to enter Harvard Law School.

UU Sets Hours

The University Union today announced the summer operational hours for the Union's Lake Bradford facilities.

Reservation hours for picnicking, barbecues, volleyball and related activities are Tuesday through Sunday from 9 a.m. until sunset.

The waterfront will be open for swimming and canoeing Saturdays from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m., and on Sundays from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. From May 1 through Sept. 30 the facilities will also be open Tuesday through Friday from 1 to 6 p.m.

Retired Education Prof Named 'Woman of the Year' For 1966

Dr. Melvina Trussell, retired professor of education at FSU has been named "Woman of the Year" for 1966 by the Junior Women's Club of Tallahassee.

One of 12 children, Miss Trussell was born in Talbot County, Georgia. Her education was obtained by working one year and then attending college for one year until she received her first degree at Georgia State College for Women, now the Woman's College of Georgia, at Milledgeville. Later she received a master's degree and doctor's degree at Cornell University.

Before she retired from the faculty at FSU as a professor of science education in 1964, more than 70,000 students, including many who became teachers, had come in contact with Trussell's enthusiasm for natural history.

After joining FSU's faculty in 1949

Sheline, Shaara, Atwood Given Honors For Teaching Excellence

Nuclear scientist Dr. Raymond K. Sheline, a professor of chemistry and physics at FSU, was named Distinguished Professor for 1966-67 at the institution last month.

The announcement of Sheline's selection by fellow faculty members to become the 10th Professor of the Year at FSU was made at commencement exercises by Academic Vice-President Karl Dittmer.

Dittmer also announced the selection of Michael Shaara, Jr., of the Dept. of English for the Coyle E. Moore Jr. Award, and the selection of Eva May Atwood, of the Dept. of Modern Languages for the new George Miller Award, both for excellence in teaching. All three of the honors carry with them a $500 prize.

Sheline, who is 45 years old, utilizes FSU's million dollar tandem Van de Graaff nuclear accelerator in most of his research. He was described in a citation as "a man of many parts" who is "A prolific researcher who likes to teach; a mature scholar and at the same time a young man whose energies and enthusiasm spill over into philosophy as well as chemistry and physics; and a nuclear scientist with a worldwide reputation who puts happily about a big house full of children, or packs them all into a Volkswagen bus to meander over the Russian countryside.

Academic VP Two Years Karl Dittmer Resigns FSU Post

Dr. Karl Dittmer has resigned his position as vice president for academic affairs at FSU, effective Aug. 31, to become dean of the Division of Sciences at Portland State College, Portland, Ore.

The resignation of Dittmer, who has held his present position for the past two years and earlier, from 1949 to 1958, was head of the Dept. of Chemistry, was announced today by President John E. Champion. Champion said, "It is with deep regret that I accept the resignation of Vice President Dittmer, Dr. Dittmer has made a major contribution to FSU in the areas of teaching, research and administration.

"In the past two years I have worked closely with Dr. Dittmer and have been impressed with his dynamic leadership, his untiring efforts to bring about needed changes in the best interests of the University, his excellent judgment, his understanding of people, and an ability to work with his associates.

"Dr. Dittmer will be greatly missed at FSU. I am pleased he will be working with us during the next several months as we face important phases of our planning."

Dittmer said, "Having been a part of this institution for some 11 years, the decision to accept a position at Portland State was indeed a difficult one. With the present outstanding faculty plus those who will be coming this fall, I am convinced that FSU will continue to move forward toward excellence. I know this faculty will strive for nothing less than the best.

"I look forward to living in the Pacific Northwest where both of my step-sons will be teaching and where both Mrs. Dittmer and I have brothers and sisters and their families, as well as many professional friends.

"I also look forward to working more directly and completely with instructional and research programs in the sciences."

The 52-year-old scientist-administrator was credited with building one of the strongest chemistry departments in the nation during his nine years as department head. He left FSU in 1958 to become program administrator for the Petroleum Research Fund and director of the Division of Research Grants and Fellowships of the American Chemical Society in Washington. He was recalled to FSU in October, 1964, to fill the newly created post of vice president for academic affairs.

Born Jan. 18, 1914, in Hebron, N.D., Dittmer got his A.B. degree in 1937 from Jamestown College. He received an M.A. in 1939 from the University of Colorado and a Ph.D. in 1944 from Cornell University Medical School where he studied under Nobel Laureate Vincent de Vigueur.

A biochemist, he is the author of some 60 research papers. Before joining the FSU faculty in 1949 he taught for three years at the University of Colorado. As he was completing his first period with FSU in May, 1958, Dittmer was given the Florida Award of the Florida Section, American Chemical Society, in recognition principally of his work in building a strong Chemistry Dept. He also took part in organizing an interdepartmental program leading to a 1957 legislative appropriation which provided FSU a Nuclear Research Building and two nuclear accelerators.

He has served as chairman of the Florida Section, ACS (1956), and as a member of the Board of Directors of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies. In March of this year he was presented the annual Honors Award of the Florida Academy of Sciences and the academy's Gold Medal for distinguished service to science.

THE NEW AEROSPACECRAFT

... X-15A-2, designed to rocket to the fringes of space at speeds over 5,000 miles per hour will be on display at the Union today through Sunday under the sponsorship of the Union Fine Arts Committee. The research craft is a derivative of the X-15 which crashed in 1962 and will be used as a hypersonic test platform for advanced ramjet engines.

Flambeau Editorials

FLAMBEAU editorials do not necessarily reflect the opinion of the student body as a whole or the administration of Florida State University. Editorials represent only the opinion of FLAMBEAU editors. Each editorial is identified with the last name or initials of its author.

A New Era

Today's paper is the beginning of a new era for the "Flambeau". For the first time in nearly two and a half years the editorship has changed hands.

While Erik Collins served a fairly long term of office for a collegiate newspaper editor (seven trimesters) it was not without significant events and changes.

In retrospect Collins' tenure was successful for him and constructive for the "Flambeau".

He brought the paper out of a financial holocaust and put it on a solid fiscal basis. He raised the overall image of the "Flambeau" in the eyes of students, faculty, administration and the University community in general.

Collins was a prime factor in the change in Student Government which brought it up from a do-nothing "Mickey Mouse" group to a vital, functioning organization.

A more effective channel of communications between students and the faculty, the Administration and Student Government was established.

There were also many other changes, improvements and policies instigated in the past two and a half years that helped make the "Flambeau" a better student paper.

These were some of Collins' goals and for the most part he was successful in achieving them.

While the job well done must be recognized, the time has come for an appraisal of existing situations and the setting of new goals for a new era of the "Flambeau".

In the coming year one of the primary goals of the "Flambeau" will be to move closer to the student body. We feel that the "Flambeau" must reflect the attitudes, opinions and problems of the students.

Beyond this reflection the "Flambeau" is also obligated to lead in the formulation of new opinions and attitudes. It is essential that the paper take stands on important issues that effect FSU. This is an obligation that must not be ignored or set aside for fear of official or unofficial reprisals.

A student newspaper has a responsibility to present all sides and viewpoints. It must provide an open forum for students to air their gripes and present their beliefs.

Informing students of issues, events and happenings on other college campuses that would be of concern to them is also a duty of the "Flambeau".

Student newspapers have traditionally been staffed with a few hard working individuals. The "Flambeau" is no different but every effort will be made in the coming year to encourage any student with journalistic interest to join the staff.

The goals for the new era of the "Flambeau" are many and by next year it is hoped we can say the "Flambeau" has made significant improvements.

Dear Doctor Stone, I guess this is quite a surprise for you, and I hope a pleasant one!

I am writing this letter to thank all the students and the student council for their efforts to make our task easier here in Viet Nam. Recently, in an overseas publication called the "Stars and Stripes", I read that FSU students were collecting books to send to troops stationed in Viet Nam. To my surprise, soon after my company received a large number of these books.

In ending this letter, I would just like to ask you to give my best regards to Lee, and the rest of your fine family.

I am certainly looking forward to furthering my education at FSU, on my return from Viet Nam.

Operates In Four Areas

Hand Named To Direct Services Center

Dr. Sam E. Hand, of the School of Education has been named director of the Continuing Education and School Services Center at FSU, President John E. Champion announced recently.

The new organization which became operational April 30 will operate in four main areas:

Provide more off-campus and on-campus educational opportunities for business, industry, government and the professions and extend wider opportunities to those who have not completed higher education programs.

Make more extensive use of communication media, institutes, seminars, workshops and clinics to bring the university's resources to bear on community problems.

Sponsor and conduct experimental studies and pilot projects to aid local and area educational institutions in achieving their goals.

Increase off-campus teacher education through the new School Services Center.

The center will work closely with the FSU faculty and the Continuing Education Office of the Board of Regents.

Hand said the center plans to have a full time staff of eight and will draw on university personnel to extend the resources of the university to Florida citizens.

The center is supported from federal and state funds allocated for various education projects. Of particular importance are the Higher Education Act of 1965, the Technical Services Act, and the Elementary-Secondary Education Act.

These acts make funds available to educational units to upgrade programs, facilities and facilities Hand explained.

The center located in the Longmire Bldg. presently but will later be moved to the Fitchner Bldg. on Woodward Avenue which is in the process of being renovated.

Hand, currently a professor of adult education at FSU, was formerly state supervisor of Adult Education with the State Department of Education. He received his B.S. in mathematics and science and his M.A. in School Administration from the University of Florida. In 1956 he was awarded the first doctorate in adult education ever presented at FSU and in the South.

Noting that the rapid sociological and technological changes which have taken place since World War II have brought increasing pressure on the individual to resume and continue his education, Hand said "Educational institutions have been hard pressed to accommodate these demands and the new emphasis on continuing education is a reflection of these forces."

The new director pointed out that continuing education can also aid Florida communities in solving problems. "By means of on-the-spot studies and surveys, consultation, research and experimentation, the university resources can assist local leaders with problems relating to health, housing, governmental organization, law enforcement, industrial development and other problems," he said.

"I view the continuing education function of a state university as a practical dividend to the people of the state whose taxes support the institution. Through continuing education an effort is made to discover and interpret education needs where they exist and to match these needs with programs and resources of the university," Hand concluded.

which spark his own creative efforts."

Sheline is a graduate of Bethany College with a Ph.D. from the University of California at Berkeley. Twice he has visited the Institute for Theoretical Physics of the late Niels Bohr in Copenhagen, once to set up a nuclear chemistry laboratory.

At FSU he is chairman of the Nuclear Science Advisory Committee. In recognition of his taking his family over the Russian country-side in a Volkswagen refers to a camping trip the Shelines made from Alaska to Moscow nearly two years ago. They also have camped extensively in this country.

Shares, an assistant professor of English who is the author of scores of published short stories, received the fifth annual Coyle E. Moore Jr. Award.

He has been teaching at FSU for seven years. Before that he worked as an advertising copywriter, a merchant seaman and for a time as a policeman at St. Petersburg but his principal interest was short story writing.

He has published frequently in Saturday Evening Post, Cosmopolitan, Redbook and other magazines and his stories have been included in several best short story anthologies.

The award given him today, however, recognized him as "untiring in his dedication to his students." He has taught creative writing and some of his television lectures on this subject have been frequently used.

Shares is a graduate of Rutgers University and has taken postgraduate work at Columbia and the University of Vermont.

The award he received was provided by the Coyle E. Moore Jr. Memorial Foundation in honor of an FSU student who studied here from 1952 to 1956 and was president of the student body.

The George Miller Award, given for the first time this year, made possible by a gift from Miller's family. It honors the late George Miller of Cordele, Ga., father of Mrs. Ned Miller of Tallahassee.

He was a businessman "who held in high esteem the human values of education and the importance of teaching," Dittmer said.

Miss Atwood, the first honoree, teaches French. She has been on the faculty since 1943.

"This dedicated teacher is being honored for the love she has for her work and subject matter, for her constant search for new methods of presentation of the material, for the long hours devoted to individual tutoring sessions, and for the inspiration of students who subsequently in their own teaching incorporated some of the imaginative techniques she demonstrated in her classes," said the citation.

Miss Atwood received her A.B. degree from Tennessee College in 1929 and her M.A. from George Peabody College in 1935. She also has studied at Columbia and the University of Paris.

Before joining the FSU faculty as assistant registrar in 1943 she was on the faculty of Tennessee College for Women and Edgewood Park College. She has served as national registrar for the National League of American Pen Women.

Seminole Netters 'Only Number Two'

by HOWARD FIGLER
Flambeau Sports Writer

FSU netmen emerged as the second college tennis team in the State surpassing Rollins and Jacksonville in the Florida Intercollegiate championships at Cape Coral April 25-26. The perennially powerful University of Miami team captured State honors again.

Seminole Paul DeZeeuw and Steve Bruner, teamed to gain the semifinal dual of doubles play in the intercollegiate.

DeZeeuw's crackling serve and his panther-like net coverage delayed early-round opponents, as the FSU pair scored three consecutive wins.

Competing in the semifinals, DeZeeuw and Bruner nearly upset the duo from Miami, Mickey Shad and Frank Turkin, but yielded a 4-10-6 decision.

DeZeeuw met Turkin, a top-20 male player in this country, for a semifinals singles match and lost 5-7, 6-3. The Seminole ace had collected two singles wins prior to his defeat.

Clint Murphy and Stew Bruner each won an opening-round singles victory before losing.

Murphy downed Lucien Salloway 6-2, 8-6 with a brilliant assortment of ground stroke placements. Salloway, the No. 5 netter on Miami's nationally-ranked team, Murphy fell to UM's Shad in the next round 6-2, 6-2.

Bruner registered an easy first-round win and then waged a stirring duel with Dave Tate, Miami's No. 4 netter who is the champion of Jamaica. Bruner used his thundering flat serve and delicate volleys to good effect and led 3-1 in the final set, but lost the touch thereafter and fell 6-3, 4-6, 6-3.

Following the intercollegiate tournament, Tribe netters lost two dual matches with Miami and were edged 5-4 by Rollins in the final season encounter.

Despite these losses, FSU completed the '66 slate with a successful

16-10 record. Coach Lex Wood remarked, "I'm proud of the entire team, which compiled a clear winning record against the stiffest competition available among Southern and Eastern schools."

The season finale versus Rollins was marked by several tightly contested matches. DeZeeuw defeated Niels Wenko, top-ranking Dutch strokebreaker, 6-8, 6-3, 6-4. Guse upended Chick Hawley 7-5, 3-6, 6-3 for the only other singles win. Bruner lost an extended contest to Clint Murphy 7-9, 6-3, 6-4, and Clint Murphy countered Bob McCann's forehand blasting artfully before bowing 9-7, 2-6, 6-2.

DeZeeuw-Guse and Bruner-Clint Murphy scored doubles wins, but the bid for team victory fell one point short.

Both losses to Miami were shut-outs, though Bruner and the Murphy's were impressive in defeat. Bruner and Clint Murphy both extended the skillful Tate to three sets, and Clint Murphy played the year's longest match.

PAUL DE ZEEUW

... captain of the Seminole netters led the Tribe to a second place finish in the Florida Intercollegiate Tournament at Cape Coral. DeZeeuw advanced to the quarter-finals in the singles and doubles events.

Meeting Today

There will be a meeting of all "Flambeau" sports staffers today at 2:30 p.m. in the Newsroom.

Lyttle Hangs Up Basketball Gear

Jim Lyttle, FSU basketball and baseball star, has decided to give up basketball in favor of baseball. Lyttle who scored 320 points last season as a sophomore and was reported to have the potential to become the Seminole next 1000 point man, said he did not feel he could play both sports and keep up his grades also.

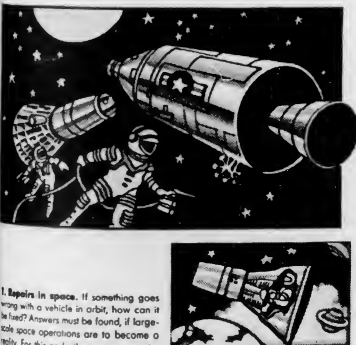

"I would like to be able to play both sports," commented Lyttle, "but if I do I will be missing too much class work."

The Tribe's rightfielder said that since baseball is his main interest, and he hopes to go into professional ball after college, he would continue with it rather than basketball.

Head Basketball Coach Bud Kennedy reported that he was "reluctant" to see Lyttle make the choice, but that he (Kennedy) in no way tried to influence him.

"I knew he would have to come to a decision sooner or later," said Kennedy, "but it would have to be left up to him. Jim is the only one who knows how much he can handle." "You always miss a starter," the FSU coach answered when asked about the effect Lyttle's departure would have on the team, "but we have a lot of strong boys coming in.

Here are 7 knotty problems facing the Air Force: can you help us solve one?

1. Repairs in space. If something goes wrong with a vehicle in orbit, how can it be fixed? Answers must be found, if large-scale space operations are to become a reality. For this and other assignments Air Force scientists and engineers will be called on to answer in the next few years, we need the best brains available.

2. Lunar landing. The most complex of the lunar surface, as well as structural propulsion characteristics of the space vehicle, enter into the problem. Important study remains to be done—and, as an Air Force officer, you could be the one to do it!

3. Life-support biology. The filling of metabolic needs over very extended periods of time in space is one of the most fascinating subjects that Air Force scientists are investigating. The results promise to have vital ramifications for our life on earth, as well as in outer space.

4. Space orientation. The orbital problems of a spacecraft, including its ability to maneuver over selected points on the earth, are of vital importance to the military utilization of space. There are plenty of assignments for young Air Force physicists in this area.

5. Synthetic plane changing. The ability of a spacecraft to change altitude can also be crucial to space operations. Where but in the Air Force could you get the chance to work on such fascinating projects right at the start of their careers?

6. Space propulsion. As our space flights cover greater and greater distances, propulsion—more than anything else—will become the limiting factor. More fuels and new propulsion techniques must be found, if we are to keep on exploring the mysteries of space. And it may well be an Air Force scientist on his first assignment who makes the big breakthrough!

7. Pilot performance. Important tests must still be made to determine how the pilots of manned spacecraft will react to long periods away from the earth. Of course not every new Air Force officer becomes involved in research and development right away. But where the most exciting advances are taking place, young Air Force scientists, administrators, pilots, and engineers are on the scene.

Want to find out how you fit into the Air Force picture? Contact your nearest Air Force representative, or mail the coupon today.

Seminole Scorecard

By HANK SCHOMBER
Flambeau Sports Editor

A lot of questions have been raised around campus concerning the outlook for the Seminole baseball team at this year's National tournament. Most of the questions are centered around the apparent off again-on again attack the Tribe's batsmen have been producing.

The main problem seems to lie in the players' attitudes, rather than their abilities.

Never before in FSU history has there been a baseball team with such great potential.

Six of the eight starters are veterans of last year's club which finished fifth in the nation. The other two starters are sophomores, but both are considered among the finest pro prospects anywhere.

The pitching staff is loaded with talent, especially lefthanders. On the bench sit a group of players who would probably be starting for most any other college team in the country.

Why then does this team with eight starters batting over .300 and a half a dozen pitchers with an earned-run-average of less than 2.00 lose a double header to a team like LSU which had previously won only four of 16 games?

After spending 10 days on the road with the Seminoles, one answer became strikingly apparent—there are a few members on the club who appear to be more interested in their own futures than in helping the Seminoles today.

While a good deal of individual effort goes into the winning of any ball game, it must be remembered that it also takes a lot of team play. After talking to several pro-scouts, team members and making personal observations it is evident that there are a few players who have forgotten the team aspect of the game.

If the Seminoles expect to win in the District Tournament at Gastonia, N.C. and later at the College World Series at Omaha, Neb., they will have to play together as a team trying to impress the opposition rather than individuals trying to impress the scouts.

No matter how many homeruns he has hit or what his batting average is, there should be no individual on the club who feels he is too good to bunt when the situation calls for it.

When the Tribe gets to the tournament games, it will be facing the toughest college teams in the nation. Not many of these contests will be won by scoring more than four runs, and most will be less.

When this happens, the sacrifice, the squeeze, the sacrifice fly and other seemingly insignificant "little plays" will suddenly take on a new emphasis and be necessary to win.

These plays may not impress the scouts with an individual's power, but it will help the team win which should be the primary concern of every player.

A player who goes into a batting slump should not let it effect the rest of his playing to the point where it hurts the team in other areas of play. If a slumping player continues to do his job in the field, his teammates will be able to pick up the slack at the plate.

The player who lets the slump get the best of him and does not run out a pop fly or throws his bat and helmet in a fit of temper after a weak ground out or a strike out not only damages team morale, but labels himself and the club as "bush".

The Seminoles certainly are not bush, they have proven that time and again. When they play together, they are capable of beating any college team in the nation. If they do that in the tournaments, the National Championship will come to FSU—there is too much talent here for it to do otherwise.

Record Now 27-9

Tribe Wins Six Of Eight Road Games

by FRANK N. STEIN
Flambeau Sports Writer

FSU's Seminole baseball team returned from a 10 day road trip over the trimeraster break with six victories and two defeats to add to its record.

The Seminole sluggers are now 27-9 for the year as they enter the final stretch of their season. The team will have several days rest before it takes on the U of F Gators Friday and Saturday in Gainesville.

The Seminoles' road trip got off to a rocky start in Baton Rouge, La. when they dropped a night-time double header to LSU April 23. After a Friday night game was rained out the Tribe was scheduled for two contests Saturday.

A week long lay-off during exams, evidently took its effect on the FSU batsmen. The sluggers were able to muster only 11 hits in the two games. The Seminoles lost 3-2 and 1-0. FSU pitcher Wayne Vincent gave up two unearned runs to the Bengal Tigers in the fifth inning, before the Tribe could counter with single tallies in the seventh and ninth frames to tie the score.

In the tenth inning, however, LSU struck for the winning run on a single, a sacrifice and a double by Phil Johnson to win.

Ken Schuetz was the Tigers' winning pitcher in relief, and Chuck Hawkins was tabbed for the loss. LSU made a first inning run stand up in the second game as Schuetz and Van Quigley stopped the Seminoles on two hits in the second game. Schuetz was again the winner, and Ed Howell, who gave up only four hits, was saddled with the loss. The Seminoles moved on to New Orleans for Sunday and Monday games with Loyola and the Tribe bat's finally began to crack once again, picking up 10 hits in each game. FSU won 3-0 and 5-0.

Sunday afternoon Marv Stringfellow tossed a three hit shutout at the Wolves as he struckout 10 and faced only 28 batters in nine innings. Jim Lytle and Gary Sprague led the Tribe attack with three and two hits respectively and Sprague scored all three of the Seminoles' runs. Monday's game was a repeat of the Sunday affair, as Marty Brooks shut Loyola out on two hits. Brooks had 11 strikeouts and gave up only one walk.

Maury Hopkins and Pete Sarron paced the Seminoles with two hits in three trips each. FSU next traveled to Mobile, Ala. for two games with Spring Hill College. The Tribe won 5-2 in 13 innings and 14-2.

The first game was highlighted by the strong pitching of Spring Hill hurler Clem Dennis and the fine relief work of FSU's Vincent who picked up the win.

Dennis went the distance for Spring Hill, scattering 11 hits, but was tagged for the loss in the 13th.

A walk to Lytle opened the frame, and

WAYNE VINCENT

EDDIE HOWELL,

Seminole lefthander, pitched two fine games for the Tribe despite losing home with one win and a loss. Howell lost a four-bitter to LSU 1-0 when the FSU bats could not overcome a first inning unearned run, but came back to beat Georgia Southern, allowing only five hits.

and the Tribe rightfielder second. After two outs, Hopkins singled sending Lytle home with the winning run.

The Seminoles erupted for 10 and 14 runs in the second game with Spring Hill. Hopkins and Lytle paced the attack with three hits each, and scored three runs. Randy Brooks added to the cause with two and three RBIs.

The FSU batsmen collected doubles, three triples and a home off two Spring Hill pitchers. The home run, was a solo blow by Sprague which opened up a three run inning.

Jim Heim went the distance for the Tribe to pick up the win.

The Seminoles moved over to Statesboro, Ga. for two games with Georgia Southern to complete the road trip. The big bats continued to rumble, as the Tribe won 9-4 and 9-1.

Sprague, Lytle and Tom Howell paced a 12 hit attack with two apiece, as the Seminoles broke long behind the strong pitching of Howell in the first game.

The Tribe lefty, blanked the Bats for eight innings, but tired before the ninth when he gave up four on two hits and three walks.

FSU struck for nine runs and his again in the second game. Vincent pitched his second victory of the trip.

Mike Martin was the big gun for the Tribe, getting three hits in the trips to the plate.

After this weekend's games with Gators, FSU returns to Tallahassee for a pair of games Monday Tuesday with Georgia Southern.

State Budget Commission Lowers University Union Funds $200,000

UU Director Herb Reinhard Says Complex Expected To End Year With Over $18,000 Total Deficit

by MARGE VANDERVALE

With $200,000 cut from its current operating budget by the State Budget Commission (SBC), the Union will face a deficit of between $18,000 and $19,000 by June 30 unless the funds are restored soon, Dr. Herb Reinhard, director of the Union, said today.

The funds in question were a portion of the rental charges to food services for the ten months from September, 1964 to June 1965 and were included in the 1965-66 budget when it was presented last spring.

Reinhard said, "The budget was approved at that time. However, when the funds were transferred to the Union budget from the University auxiliaries budget this spring the SBC, consisting of the State cabinet with the governor as chairman, sent the FSU Comptroller's Office notification that such a transfer could not be made. Consequently the money has been removed from Union funds and placed in a dining hall fund."

"These funds had been counted into the budget previously and are needed to meet the Union's obligations so we have two possibilities," Reinhard explained. "We can start next year with a large deficit or we can re-evaluate funds from some other area to cover the amount."

"If we begin with a deficit it would mean that some phase of the Union operations would be closed. Such a measure has not been thought of yet."

Reinhard further said that he was upset about the matter. "It's absurd. They certainly cannot hold the Union or the University responsible for the deficit. If we had the previously approved funds we would be in good shape."

"The official explanation for the cut as I understand it was that such food service rental monies are not proper sources of revenue for a University Union and should be kept in auxiliary funds."

"We are however, getting the rental money from this year so this policy is not at all consistent," Reinhard emphasized. "It is a general practice of Unions around the nation to be subsidized from food services," he also pointed out.

"To operate a Union you must know the amount of funds available to you at the beginning of the fiscal year and be able to count on it. For someone to delete $200,000 in the ninth month of the fiscal year is not reasonable nor logical."

This gives the Union staff the impression that they are subject to being penalized for good financial management. It seems that any money left over from good administration will go where the administration is bad. "We need these funds. We should be able to establish a building fund for future expansion and there are repair jobs that these funds are needed for. We will never be able to develop a surplus for these projects if this money is taken away," Reinhard commented.

The Dean of Students office has sent a memorandum to FSU President John Champion asking for action to be taken to restore these funds, but as far as is known, no action has been taken yet as Champion is out of town, Reinhard said.

Dr. Robert Willis of the Board of Regents office further clarified the matter for the "Flambeau." He said rather than it being a matter of direct disapproval by the SBC, the State Budget Director did not recommend such a transfer of funds.

Chemist Honored By Notre Dame

FSU chemist, Dr. James V. Quagliano, has received one of the 50 honor awards just given by the University of Notre Dame in celebration of the 100th anniversary of its College of Science.

The awards, in the form of plaques, honor former students and faculty members who have gained distinction in research, technology or scientific management. Quagliano taught at Notre Dame for 10 years before joining the FSU faculty in 1958.

Quagliano will teach through Trimester III and then will conduct research at the University of Rome during the coming academic year. He has received a Fulbright exchange grant to go to Rome.

Before commencing his research in October, he will attend the International Coordination Conference in Switzerland from Sept. 5-9 and will read a paper, "Studies of Some Coordination Compounds of Positive Ion Ligands."

TOASTING AND ROASTING AT THE UNION POOL

Is the vogue now that summer is finally upon us, The pool is open daily at noon and at 1 p.m. Sunday. Closes at 9 p.m. nightly. For only $.25 admission charge it's a real bargain, say many students.

Religious Workshop Opens Secularism Topic in Moore

A multi-denominational workshop of ministers will sponsor a two day conference at FSU beginning today on "A Secular Change and Churches." The sessions are open to the general public. The conference intends to show how the church and the college can be considered to live through mutual aid," said University Chaplain Dr. Charles Wellborn.

Aerospacecraft Being Displayed

A new manned aerospacecraft designed to rocket to the fringes of space at speeds over 5,000 miles per hour is being displayed at the Moore Auditorium this week. The X-15A-2, this rocket craft is a derivative of the X-15 which crashed in 1962. It will be flown jointly by the U.S. Air Force, Navy and NASA as a hyper-sonic test platform for advanced engines. Beneath the new X-15A-2 are plans for future piloted aerospacecraft, which will take off conventionally, rocket into space, then glide through the atmosphere and land. The speed of the new craft is more than one mile per second, 15 times the speed of sound. The modification installed behind the cockpit is a "flip-top" section.

1:30 p.m. today in Moore Auditorium. The first session starts at 2 p.m. with Dr. John J. Carey, assistant professor of religion, speaking on "Religion and the Secular." Dr. Wellborn will preside. A banquet will follow at 6 p.m. in the Leon-Lafayette Room of the Union. Speaking at the banquet will be Dr. E. Laurence Chalmers, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and professor of psychology. He will speak on "Change and Psychology."

Father Lawrence Cunningham, chaplain to Roman Catholic Students at FSU will lecture on "Movement Within Roman Catholicism" at 8:00 p.m. in Moore Auditorium. Presiding will be Dr. Robert A. Spivey, chairman of the FSU department of Religion. The final session will be held tomorrow morning at 9 a.m. Dr. Wellborn will lecture on "The New Morality." The associate minister of Trinity Methodist Church, Rev. J.P. Floyd, will preside. Discussion groups will follow each of the lectures.

Flambeau Deadlines

New "Flambeau" deadlines for trimester III-A are as follows: The advertising deadline for the Wednesday paper is 5 p.m. the preceding Friday, and 5 p.m. Wednesday afternoon for the Friday edition. Classified ads, announcements, letters to the editor and copy must be in prior to noon Monday for Wednesday issues and before noon Wednesday for Friday papers.

Pianist To Lecture

Eminent pianist, conductor, composer, teacher and writer, Ernst Bacon, will lecture on "Democracy and Music" Tuesday afternoon at 2:40 in Opperman Music Hall.

The lecture, which is being sponsored by the School of Music, is open to the public and free of charge.

Mr. Bacon has been Director of the School of Music and Composer-in-Residence at Syracuse University; Dean of the School of Music, Converse College; Director of Federal Music, San Francisco; and founder of the Carmel, California and Spartanburg, S.C. Festivals.

Common-Law Marriage

The all-mighty power of the State Budget Commission has again manifested itself by pulling the bottom out of an internal project of a State University.

By arbitrarily taking $20,000 from the Union's budget the Commission will deprive the Union and FSU students of many worthwhile programs and physical improvements of the Union complex.

Although the action has been called everything from a rejection of a proposal to a tentative recommendation by the State Budget Director the fact still remains that unless something is done the Union will be very much in the red at the end of this fiscal year.

So far, the only action taken has been a request from former Dean of Students Harry P. Day that FSU President John Champion appeal the action of the Commission. As far as we can determine Champion has been unable to take any positive position on the problem due to his very busy schedule at this time of the year.

We feel quite sure that the Commission will see the obvious need for the funds and restore the $20,000 cut when Champion makes his appeal.

However, the issue does not end with a solution to this one particular situation. The real problem seems to be one of a common-law marriage between incompatible partners -- politicians and educators.

We believe the day is long past due for Florida to drop its archaic practices of political intervention in the internal workings of education institutions.

In order to have a top flight educational program it is necessary for the politicians to trust the men they hire to run the schools. This trust means more than an occasional approval of a long range program. It means that their judgment and responsibility must be trusted without continual watching by a "big brother" like organization in Tallahassee.

This trusting attitude has been obviously lacking in the past. It has held the educational system down. It has caused many excellent administrators and faculty members to leave a school. Often they leave even though they feel a close personal attachment.

At present the raiding of the FSU faculty has become so rampant that several professors have gone to institutions in "poorer" states for IMPROVEMENT. Often their off the record reason for leaving is too much political interference in the University system.

This issue has been alive in Florida for some time. We hope that enough citizens of this state will become concerned with the issue so that some day Florida will have the kind of educational system it pays for and deserves.

Employee Displays Cruelty To Dogs

To the Editor:

This morning, May 4, 1966, between 7:45 and 7:55 a.m., I viewed what I consider to be gross, flagrant, and wanton cruelty to animals on the part of a City of Tallahassee employee.

This "servant of the public" was driving a city truck with a wire cage on the back within which were two dogs -- one was a German Shepherd and the other was apparently a wire haired terrier.

There evidently was some type of "neural disruption" between the driver's brain and his left foot, being evidenced by the inability to make a moderate and smooth start. This "Sterling Moss" of the City was starting so fast that the dogs were being thrown into the back of the wire cage, and viewed from their plaintive cries, eliciting pain from them. Playing "true to his role" the "Thunder Road" driver took corners fast enough to throw the dogs into the side of the wire cage, eliciting further cries of anguish from the dogs.

The small wire haired terrier was shaking and trembling and was having some type of anxiety reaction. Whether this was caused by his trip or not I don't know, but if not, then his condition was not made any better.

I'm quite sure that the City treats child rapists and murders better than it treats dogs, whose only crime is to be homeless and unwanted.

If nothing else stirs the hearts of the residents of Tallahassee perhaps money will. The driver was causing excessive wear and tear to a tax-bought vehicle and consequently losing the tax payers money.

I hope the driver of City vehicle, license number 92, will try to be slightly more humane in the future and spend less time abusing animals and perhaps more time caring for closed swimming pools.

ANNOUNCEMENT:

CHAPMAN COLLEGE, located in Orange, California, one of the oldest colleges in the West, is accepting applications for admission for two 107-day semesters for the fall of 1966 and the spring of 1967 aboard Holland-America Line's s.s. Ryndam. This is the second year of operation of Chapman College's floating campus.

Outstanding college and university students are invited to spend these semesters at sea, enrolled for 12-15 units of credit, applicable toward the Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science and Bachelor of Music degrees, or 9-12 units toward the Master of Arts degree.

Onboard, students will experience a situation of intense academic concentration, supplemented by personal meetings ashore with men who are the world's leaders, monuments which are the world's heritage, and people whose apparent differences often prove to hide human similarities.

College classes will be held during 56 class days at sea in modern, air-conditioned classrooms and laboratories equipped with all facilities necessary for course work offered.

ITINERARIES: Fall 1966 Semester leaves New York October 20, duration 107 days; to Lisbon, Barcelona, Marseille, Civitavecchia (Rome), Piraeus (Athens), Istanbul, Alexandria (Cairo), Port Said, Suez, Bombay, Colombo, Port Swettenham (Kuala Lumpur), Bangkok, Hong Kong, Kobe, Yokohama (Tokyo), Hawaii, arriving Los Angeles February 4, 1967.

Spring 1967 Semester leaves Los Angeles February 27, duration 107 days; to La Guaira (Caracas), Port of Spain (Trinidad), Salvador, Montevideo, Buenos Aires, Rio De Janeiro, Lagos, Dakar, Casablanca, Cadiz, Lisbon, Rotterdam (inland to France, Belgium and the Netherlands), Copenhagen, London, Dublin (overland to), Galway, arriving New York City May 25, 1967.

ADMISSION: Students admitted to the program must meet regular admission qualifications of Chapman College and upon fulfilling its requirements will receive grades and credits in accordance with its regularly established standards.

If the Budget Director does not recommend a measure it is defeated unless it is requested that the matter be brought to the Budget Commission without the director's approval.

Wills explained that the feeling of the commission was that the Union should not receive subsidization from auxiliary funds but that its expenses should be covered from funds from the student activity fees. "Agreements within the University for financing do not bind this office. Some procedures may be carried on here illegally for a time but that does not mean it is right," Wills said.

"The University may present a case to the Budget Commission for its transfer and if after hearing arguments for such a move the Budget Commission might feel it proper to reassign these funds to the Union," Wills concluded.

Senior, Faculty Recitals Set For Saturday And Tuesday Evenings

The senior recital of Terri Schreckengost, a student of Elena Nikolaidi, FSU music professor, will be presented in Opperman Music Hall, Saturday night at 8:15 p.m. Johann Bach's Cantata 39, "Hochster, was ich habe," will open the program. Richard Pritchard will accompany Miss Schreckengost on the flute for this selection.

Works of Brahms, Strauss, and Mascagni will be included in the first part of the performance. The program will be continued with French compositions by Faure and Hahn and "Two Greek Folksongs" arranged by Maurice Ravel.

Two Love Songs, "Extinguish My Eyes" and "When My Soul Touches Yours" by Bernstein and Menotti's "To This We've Come" conclude the performance.

Miss Schreckengost will be accompanied by Stephan Hess.

A program of French music will be presented by William F. Cramer, trombonist, and Robert Grotzbach, pianist, in the first faculty recital of the summer at FSU Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in Opperman Music Hall. The recital is open to the public.

The six compositions programmed represent "an attempt to show a cross section of the styles that are being used for trombone and piano in France today," Cramer said.

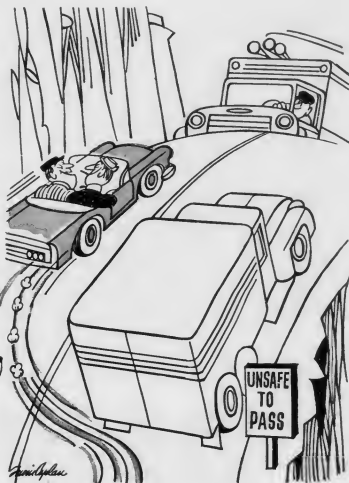

The opening number will be "Cavatine" by Camille St. Saens. It will be followed by "Variations for Trombone and Piano," written by Leon Stekte in 1942 as a contest piece for the Brussels Conservatory, and "Ballade" by Eugene Bozza, a reflection of the jazz era of the twenties and thirties.

The last half of the program will include "Fantasie Concertante" by Jacques Casterede, "Suite for Trombone and Piano" by Pierre Max Dubois and "Cantabile et Caprice" by Desire Dondayne.

Navy Recruit At UU

The Navy Officers Candidate School (OCS) recruiting team will be on campus Tuesday through Thursday. Applications will be accepted from junior and senior students for the Officers Candidate School at Newport, Rhode Island.

Information tables will be located in the arcade near the Post Office. Interviewing will take place in room 240 Union.

Elizabeth Leeman Named Direct Law School Library

Mrs. Elizabeth Martin Leeman has been named asst. professor and librarian in the new FSU College of Law which is scheduled to open in September.

Mrs. Leeman has an A.B. degree from Winthrop College, an M.A. in English from the University of Texas, an L.L.B. degree from Saint Mary's University Law School and a master of law library science degree from the University of Washington.

She has done additional graduate work at Columbia University, the University of Florida and FSU.

The new law librarian taught school in Georgia, Tennessee and Texas for a number of years. In addition, she was a professor of law at Saint Mary's University and was engaged in the practice of law for a time in San Antonio, Texas.

She has also worked on various projects for the American Bar Association and for various agencies in codification of city ordinances. For the past year, Mrs. Leeman has been teaching in the FSU School of Business. After she begins her job full time July 1, Mrs. Leeman will have the responsibility for a 20,000 volume library. The library has received over 5,000 volumes by donations from interested citizens.

The law library will be located in the basement of the Longmire Bldg. and renovation work is scheduled to get underway shortly on the facility. The faculty offices and classrooms will also be located in Longmire. Planning for a permanent College of Law building is already underway.

Drag Racing Set For Campus Try

FSU students, long starved for drag racing, will finally have their chance to show off their skill and endurance Thursday at the University Union sponsored bicycle drag race. The first heat will start at 5 p.m. on "Seminole Drag Strip" located between the Union complex and the Pool.

Both tandem and singles races will be run, and any student or faculty member is eligible to enter. Only Union bicycles will be used. There is no entry fee for the single elimination races, but students entering are asked to sign-up in Crenshaw Lanes.

Winners will receive free passes to the campus movies.

Football Coaching Staff Reshuffled; Newcomers 'Eager And Impressive'

FSU will go into the 1966 season with many new faces on its football team and several others on the coaching staff.

However, Head Coach Bill Peterson dispelled any thoughts that the loss of several assistants will hurt the Seminoles next fall as he announced his coaching assignments earlier this week.

"We have some new coaches and there will be some new assignments," he said. "It will mean more meetings and harder work for all concerned, but I'm really impressed with the young people we've hired.

They all have ability and they're all eager."

Bill Crutchfield is Peterson's first assistant, and will head the offense with concentration on the backfield, a post he has held for the past two years.

Bob Harbison is the defensive chief and will work with the interior line. Harbison switched from offense to defense last season and was given responsibility for the defense when Don James left the staff.

Neil Schmidt, who coached the defensive ends and linebackers last season, will coach the defensive secondary this year. Bobby Jackson, a graduate assistant last year, will work with the defensive ends, and Gary Wyant, a recent addition from Wichita State, will coach the linebackers.

Don Powell will continue as offensive line coach, and newcomer Don Breaux will coach the Seminoles pass receivers.

THE ADVENTURES OF PAM AUSTIN

CHAPTER SIX

"Coronet saves the day."

Last time, we left Pam, hanging way out on a limb ... with only one way to go.

Alas! Is there nothing to save her from "Boredom Falls"?

Wait. Coming through that cloud of dust! Those suave good looks. That strong, silent demeanor. That mighty V8 power.

Those comfort-contoured bucket seats. And ... and that silver center console! It can only be ...

CORONET 500 to the rescue!

How about you ... isn't it time you dropped in to see Coronet 500 up close? Maybe it will save you from falling into a rut!

Seminole Test Gator Strength; Martin And Lytle Lead Attack

The FSU Sluggers, ranked third among the nation's major college baseball teams, travel to Gainesville for two games with the U of F Gators today and tomorrow.

Gator Coach Dave Fuller is expected to have Kelly Prior and Ray Rollyson ready to throw against the Seminoles.

Prior, who beat Tennessee with a 2-0 four hitter his last time out, owns a 5-2 record and a 2.14 earned-run-average. Rollyson has compiled a 5-3 record and a 2.21 ERA.

At the plate the U of F boasts of four regulars batting over .300. The leading Gator swinger is Skip Lajack at .389. He is followed by Bruce Moore (.341), Jim Frazier (.321) and Jack Kenworthy (.307).

Frazier is the team's hardest hitter, having collected five doubles, five triples and five home runs for 54 total bases.

The Seminoles will counter with a starting line-up that has every regular batting over .300 and a team average also well above the .300 mark.

Leading the sluggers, as he has almost all year, is centerfielder Mike Martin, who has a .380 mark.

State's Track Teams Vie Here

An outstanding field of 150 athletes are entered for the Annual Florida Invitational Track and Field Meet this Saturday night at 6:30 on the FSU Track.

The meet, sanctioned by the U.S. Track and Field Federation, is the climax of the collegiate outdoor season. Nine teams are entered including the U of F, U of F Freshmen, Florida Track Club, Tallahassee Athletic Club (FSU), Florida A&M Track Club, University of Miami Track Club, Manatee Jr. College, Miami-Dade Track Club and the Atlanta Striders.

This will be the third time this year that the State college teams have met. The Tribe, which will combine its varsity and freshman teams as the Tallahassee Athletic Club for this meet, came out ahead of other state schools in the Jesuit Invitational in Tampa and the Florida Relays in Gainesville.

However, the team competition is expected to be overshadowed by some intense individual duels here Saturday.

FSU's 440 relay composed of Nathaniel James, Major Hazelon, Eugene Milton and James Ashcroft recently won the event at the Penn Relays.

Milton, who has run the 100 yard dash in 9.4, will try his hand against the U of F's John Anderson and FSU's Ken White in that event which is expected to be one of the meet highlights. White is the Jesuit and Florida Relays champion in the event.

The 880 yard run should also be a dogfight with four time meet champion Jim Brown of the Florida Track Club testing John Brogie and Bill Nelson of FSU, Dieter Gehhardt of the U of F and Don Hale of Miami-Dade.

Both the high and intermediate hurdles are packed with talent. FSU's Steve Landis and the Gator's Scott Hager will renew their rivalry in the intermediates. In two previous meetings they have finished inches apart, and recorded the same time at the Penn Relays in different heats.

Hager will also run the highs where he will go against Miami's Duke Schroder. Tallahassee's Mike Kelly and Manatee's Jack Powell, a Junior College All-American.

Of the field events the high jump and the shot put shape up as the most interesting. Florida Track Club's Frank Sater has jumped 6'9"

Florida A&M's Ken Brown, 6-10, the U of F's Jim Richeson, 6-9 1/2 and Tallahassee's Floyd Lorenz, 6-7.

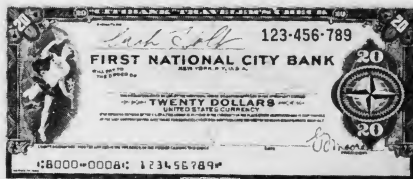

KEN WHITE.

... FSU sprmer, will again be facing the State's toughest competition tomorrow at 6:30 p.m. on the Florida High Track.

Summer Senate Elections Set

Deputy Commissioner of Elections Elbert Lambert today announced that students wishing to seek election to the Summer Session of Senate may file their declaration of candidacy in room 331, Union before May 17.

The election is set for Tuesday, May 24. The ballot will include the fifteen seats to be filled for summer Senate, and a special straw vote will be conducted on the gubernatorial contest.

Listed on the straw ballot will be Robert King High and Gov. Haydon Burns, who will compete in the Democratic run-off that day. Claude Kirk, the Republican nominee will also be included on the poll.

Student Body President Larry Gonzalez commented that this ballot will give an indication as to whether FSU students were in agreement with statewide results, and that it will also give Republicans a chance to be heard.

All students who are enrolled for the entire summer trimester and have a 2.0 grade average or better are eligible to run for the summer senate seats.

"The Summer Senate affords interested students an excellent opportunity to learn about the operation of our Student Government," Gonzalez emphasized.

Students further pointed out that because the council membership has been expanded from nine to fifteen members, all those seeking election stand a good chance of being elected without a time consuming campaign. Last summer the nine elected members ran unopposed.

Student Body Vice-President Joy Dickinson, who will preside over the legislative body, said that the summer Senate may enact legislation which will apply to the third trimester and may propose legislation and make recommendations to the 19th Student Senate which will convene in the fall.

One of the major programs this summer will be the study of the judicial review plan which was presented to Senate last spring. Miss Dickinson added, "There will also be a special committee to study the idea of a State Student Legislature."

Pianist Performs Tomorrow Night

Robert MacDonald, concert pianist, will be presented in a concert in Moore Auditorium tomorrow evening at 8 p.m. Admission is free and open to the public. The concert is sponsored by the University Union Fine Arts Committee. MacDonald's piano program will include the performance of Francis Poulenc's "Barcarolle," "The Little Elephant" and "The Little Elephant."

MacDonald will be narrated by his wife, Mrs. MacDonald. MacDonald is a graduate of the Master of Music degree from Indiana University and the Graduate "Klavierspiel" from the State Academy of Music in Vienna. MacDonald made his European tours for the State Academy and recently appeared in Hollywood "Tale Scous."

MacDonald studied acting at the Max Reinhardt Studio in Vienna, and for two years she performed in the Part-Ring Repertory Theatre.

La Strada Tonight

The Union Film Committee will present "La Strada" tonight in Moore Auditorium at 7 p.m. and as part of the Classic Film High headquarters at 16 East Jefferson. Admission is free. The film is a 1954 production of Academy Award-winning director Ingmar Bergman. It tells the story of a simple-minded, half-witted, strongman and a philosopher who travel the highways of each man's loneliness and search for the way of his life, say critics.

ROBERT KING HIGH

R.K. High Talk Planned Today

Democratic gubernatorial nominee candidate Robert King High will conduct a press conference and answer questions this afternoon at the Fountain Restaurant. The rally is open to the general public and refreshments will be served.

High is expected to arrive in Tallahassee about 12:30 p.m. A caravan is then planned to take him from the airport to the restaurant, where he will speak.

Interested people may also visit the high headquarters at 26 East Jefferson or call 224-2815 or 224-3415 for further information on High's scheduled visit or general policies.

FSU's New Party Executive Council has also given High unanimous endorsement which is primarily based on his stand for integrity in government, said Parris Glendening, New Party chairman.

"We feel that education has slipped backwards under the present administration, and it is more than apparent to us that High will do much to remedy the poor state of education in this state," continued Glendening.

Dr. J. Chambers Heads New Unit

Dr. Jay Lee Chambers Jr. has been named clinical psychologist for the Mental Health Unit of the Student Health Service at FSU. He will take over his new duties on June 1.

Chambers presently is director of psychological services at Kentucky State University and director of the National Institute of Mental Health Studies there. At FSU he will offer psychological diagnosis and treatment to students and will augment services currently available, former Dean of Students Harry P. Day said.

Chambers received his B.A. degree from George Washington University and his M.A. and Ph.D. in clinical psychology from the University of Kentucky.

He completed a clinical training program at the V.A. Hospital, Lexington, Kentucky. From 1954-56 he served as head, Department of Psychology, at Muskingum College. From 1956-58 he was chief psychologist, Eastern State Hospital, Williamsburg, Virginia, and from 1958-64 he was director of the Charles W. Mix Memorial Fund Inc. at Americus, Georgia. In this position he directed research activities for this mental health foundation.

Chambers is known for a number of articles in the professional literature and for the development of the Picture Identification Test, a projective psychological test based on the Murray need system.

A member of the Rotary Club, Kiwanis Club and the Danville Toastmasters Club, he is currently a deacon in First Presbyterian Church, Danville, Kentucky.

'Being Earnest' Schedules Performance This Month

Fred Breckenridge, FSU graduate student in theater, will direct the University Theatre's final production of the season, Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest." The play will be presented May 25-29 in Conrad Theater. Curtain time for the Wednesday through Saturday performances will be 8:30 p.m. and the Sunday matinee will be at 2:30 p.m. Tickets go on sale May 23 at the Union Ticket office for $7.50 for students and $1.50 for the public.

Breckenridge, whose bachelor's degree is from Alabama College, expects to receive the master of fine arts degree in directing from FSU in December.

His directing experience includes a year as resident director for the St. Augustine Little Theater where he directed "Inherit the Wind," "All My Sons," "Hedda Gabler," "Arsenic and Old Lace," "Bus Stop," and "Under the Yum Yum Tree." In 1965 he directed "Everyman" at the U of F.

He is married to Joy Breckenridge, known to FSU audiences as the costume mistress for all the University Theatre productions. She and he will be working at the Asolo Theater this summer. Breckenridge is known locally for his roles in "Dr. Faustus" and "The White Widow." He also directed FSU's "Evening of One-Acts" presented in March.

Breckenridge has selected the following students for the cast of "The Importance of Being Earnest": Bill Gammon, Algermon; John Hoffman; Jack; Gail Strickland, Gowdolen; Margaret Kaler, Cecily; Kathryn Fleming, Lady Bracknell; Kathryn Blomstrom, Miss Prism; David Martin, Rev. Chauce; Terry Rogers, Lane; Steve Klein, Merriman; and Marueen O'Connell, Maid.

'Flambeau' Airs Forum On WTAL

"Flambeau Forum," a weekly panel discussion of news and events concerning FSU, will premiere tomorrow night at 10 p.m. on WTAL (1450).

The half-hour program will feature as regular panelists Dave Nelson, "Flambeau" editor, and Tony Skiff, "Flambeau" editor. Each week a different guest will be featured, and topics that are currently in the news will be discussed, said Nelson.

This week, as the guest, FSU Vice President of Academic Affairs Dr. Karl Dittmer will be featured. The subject of the discussion will be the problems and progressiveness of FSU, Nelson continued. Dittmer has been vice-president for the past two years. He is leaving his post in August for a position at Portland State College, Portland, Ore., as dean of the Division of Sciences.

Alumni Sponsor Theme Contest

May 21 is the deadline for Homecoming Theme contest entries, Jan Stewart, Homecoming Publicity Chairman, announced today.

The contest, sponsored by the FSU Alumni Assn., is open to students, faculty and staff members. Entries should be sent to: Homecoming Theme Contest, Alumni Office, Longmire Building.

The winner will receive two tickets to Miami on a special charter train plus accommodations for two at the Dillido Hotel, Miami Beach, and two tickets to the Seminole-Miami football game on September 24.

The 1966 Homecoming will be November 18-19. The Seminoles' opponent will be Wake Forest College. Dr. Steve Edwards, asst. professor of physics, has been appointed general chairman of homecoming activities by President Champion.

Progressive University Stagnation In American Thinking

Surprising as it may seem to many students, FSU is one of the best and most progressive Universities in the Southeast.

This fact may not be too apparent around the campus when there is a great deal of complaint and criticism about women's rules, the proposed Student Bill of Rights, faculty evaluation and other issues. However, meetings with representatives from other Southeastern colleges and universities have shown this to be all too true.

Last week in Jacksonville the Southern Universities Student Government Association's (SUSGA) annual convention reaffirmed our belief.

The conference was attended by about 850 delegates representing over 60 schools. Throughout the conference in panel discussions, state caucuses, small group gatherings and even late night parties it was shown that FSU's Student Government stands far above average in accomplishment and ability.

Many of FSU's Student Government programs, such as the proposed Student Bill of Rights, were considered to be good ideas, but radical or impossible by most of the schools in attendance.

Although it is well and good to be a regional leader, we feel there is a definite lacking in the South. It appears that FSU is not so progressive, rather the other schools are backward.

It would be interesting to know where FSU might stand in a national convention of the same type. There is no way to be certain, but we feel that it would be somewhere only slightly above average in like-sized schools.

When studying and reading about universities in other sections of the country it becomes somewhat apparent that the South is suffering from intellectual starvation.

In Florida the beginning step in alleviating the problem is money. The educational system needs more money to finance the rapid growth and change that is so essential to the system.

The second step would be to abolish as much as possible all political control and leave education to those who know it best -- the educators.

Although this would not cure all the ills, it would go a long way toward improving the situation as it now exists.

A Special Note Of Thanks

A special note of thanks is due to the several hard-working FSU delegates who made a dedicated, but futile, effort to get Jim Groot elected SUSGA chairman.

Most outstanding in the attempt were George Beal, Dave Giordano, Mel Smith, Cindy Skelton, Margo Sears, Pushy Tunnickliff, George Noga and Ted Hanes.

Despite the fact that the United States has traditionally conferred upon itself the designation of being the land where a man can begin at the bottom and work his way to the top, where he can be "his own man," where rugged individualism is the source of the strong nation-state, it must also be recognized that the validity of any such concepts is highly questionable.

American society is also known as a world of "keeping up with the Joneses" and a place where the idea of conformity has run rampant. This idea of conformity is sometimes thought of as being attacked by the fringe groups, the "non-conformists," who proceed to simply form a new group, with its new standards to which its members must conform. The end result of even this process is that we still end up with a society of groups, not individuals, stratified according to various criteria and in which any crossing of the boundaries is frowned upon.

A good part, possibly most, of the basis for such a development lies in the Judeo-Christian heritage. It was here that there originated a concept of absolutes—absolute right and absolute wrong, with no middle ground—and a basis for complete acceptance or rejection according to whether something was "good" or "bad."

There were not two ways, but only one...the "right" way. One reflection of this was seen in the American frustration during the 1950's with the new nations which wanted to be neutral, which we could not easily classify as "good" nations or "bad" ones. But since our predictions were for easily recognizable cleavages, we simply decided that those who were not "for" us were "against" us.

Another aspect of this problem is one which deals more directly with decisions which we, as individuals, must make today—is in the political conception of "left" or "right." Originally this was simply a manner of seating for parliament but now it permeates much of our life. (See AMERICAN, page 3) thoughts as well. With some basic decision or simply through the reaching of his elders, individual places himself somewhere in the political spectrum. His position within the spectrum may change from time to time but at any time all his views must have been conformity.

One cannot take a stand on one issue if it draws its greatest support from the right, if on other issues he has taken his stand in the association with the left. More recently, if a new issue arises he must—according to our group standards—take his position on it not relying on any logical assumptions of its own merit, but rather in conjunction with the concepts of basic group.

Thus, if a "conservative" were to take a position in opposition to section 14-b of the Tall-Hartley Act or a "liberal" were to favor it, they would be most likely labeled as "opportunists" having reached this position with some ulterior motive in mind. For a conservative to be opposed to 14-b on the merits of that proposition alone is practically inconceivable.

Why? This is the important question. Why cannot an individual reach a decision which may be in contradiction to the thought of the group with which he usually associates himself? Why are not the merits of the issue most important rather than the merits of group membership in the political, economic, or religious left and right?

It is a question which must be answered before we can break from the stagnation of group conformity and become the "rugged individuals" we once thought ourselves to be.

Quarter System Favored By All

On recommendations from the Board of Regents and the Board of Education, The President's Council, composed of the Presidents of all State Universities, began a study in 1964 of the various school calendar systems to determine which system would be best suited academically and financially for the State Universities.

At first the Presidents' Council recommended a 17-17-5 week semester plan. However, the Board of Regents asked that a complete study be made of all possible calendars.

"Following these further studies by the Interinstitutional Committee and the President's Council, and after individual studies and investigations on the part of several members of the Board of Regents—with an exchange of views by those involved—the committee then having the responsibility won on record unanimously as considering acceptable the adoption of the quarter system, and the President's Council after reviewing the committee's reports turned in its unanimous recommendation to the Board of Regents for the quarter system," stated the Committee report.

On Feb. 11, 1966, the proposal was brought up to the Board of Regents with the stipulation that the calendar conversion not be effective before Sept. 1967. This would allow ample time to make the necessary preparation for the conversion.

Some of the reasons given for the quarter system's superiority over the present trimester were; 1, it will permit easy transfer of both students and faculty from junior colleges and other institutions; 2, faculty salaries can be set on the academic year basis; 3, it offers the "sabbatical" plan for teachers; 4, the fall term is completed before Christmas; 5, the plan complies with the legislative intent; 6, students can complete their education in a three-year span period if they desire; 7, public school teachers can return for summer courses.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Students interested in attending Encampment for Citizenship conferences this summer should contact Student Government officers in 325 Union for further information.

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, will conduct open rush tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Leon-Lafayette Room, Union. All interested male students may attend the discussion.

There will be a discussion group on "Secular City" tonight at 7:30 p.m. at 925 W. Jefferson. Pastor David Kruse of the Luther House will lead the discussion.

Campus Paces are now on sale in the Union Bookstore.

Students interested in serving on the University Court trimesters III-A or III-B should come to room 553, Union, between 3:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. today or tomorrow, or call 599-3376 during those hours.

Mr. John Eubanks from the Veterans' Service Center will be in the registrar's office, 102B Westcott, on May 16, 17 and 18, to process applications for Cold War GI benefits.

Students may pick up application forms at the registrar's information desk, 102A Westcott, any day during office hours so that the forms may be completed before the conference.

The Navy Officer Candidate School recruiting team will be on campus through tomorrow to accept applications from junior and senior students to attend the OCS Officer Candidate School at Newport, Rhode Island.

US Representative William C. Cramer today announced the appointment of a Congressional Intern Committee to select a college student from Pinellas County to serve as Congressional Intern in Cramer's Washington office this summer.

Applicants must submit a statement of not more than 500 words as to why he or she believes their internship in a Congressman's office will benefit the community, state and nation in the future.

The student should also have his college forward his academic records, and the student should send a list of his extracurricular activities and any other qualifications to Congressman William C. Cramer, 2600 9th Street, North, St. Petersburg, Florida.

PI Delta Phi, the French honor society at FSU, recently announced the initiation of 13 new members and one honorary member, Dr. Genevieve Sutton.

PI Delta Phi is for undergraduate and graduate students. Membership for faculty and staff is by invitation. New Initiates are Max Herzel, Barbara Lee, Lawrence Miller, Patricia N. Duggan, Luisa Hamada, Ann C. Hooper, Beverly Layton, Mary M. Matthew, Gordon Sumner, Alice York, Martha Graham, William Day and Joanne Cramer.

THE COLLEGE PRESIDENT: HIS CAUSE AND CURE

Oh, sure, you've been busy, what with going to classes, doing your homework, catching night crawlers, getting married, picketing—but can you pause for just a moment and give thought to that dear, dedicated, lonely man in the big white house on the hill I refer, of course, to Prexy.

It is interesting to note that college presidents are always called "Prexy." Similarly, trustees are always called "Trixie." Associate professors are always called "Axy-Phy." Bursars are called "Foxy-Woxy." Students are called "Algae."

But I digress. We were speaking of Prexy, a personage at once august and pathetic. Why pathetic? Well, sir, consider how Prexy spends his days. He is busy, busy, busy. He talks to deans, he talks to professors, he talks to trustees, he talks to alumni. In fact, he talks to everybody except the one group who could lift his heart and rally his spirits. I mean, of course, the appealing, endearing, winsomest group in the entire college—delightful you, the students.

It is Prexy's sad fate to be forever a stranger to your laughing, golden selves. He can only gaze wistfully out the window of his big white house on the hill and watch you at your games and sports and yearn with all his tormented heart to bask in your warmth. But how? It would hardly be fitting for Prexy to appear one day at the Union, clad in an old rowing blazer, and cry gaily, "Heigh-ho, chaps! Who's for sailing?"

No, friends, Prexy can't get to you. It is up to you to get to him. Call on him at home. Just drop in unannounced. He will naturally be a little shy at first, so you must put him at his ease. Shout, "Howdy-doo, sir! I have come to bring a little sunshine into your drear and blighted life!" Then yank his necktie out of his vest and scamper goatlike around him until he is laughing merrily along with you.

Then hand him a package and say, "A little gift for you, sir."

"For me?" he will say, lowering his lids. "You shouldn't have."

"Yes, I should," you will say, "because this is a pack of Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades, and whenever I think of Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades, I think of you."

"Why, hey?" he will ask curiously.

"Because, sir," you will say, "though you are no longer a young blade, still you gleam and function. Full though you are of years and lumps, rheumy though your endocrines and flaccid your hamstrings, still you remain sharp, incisive, efficacious."

"Thank you," he will say, sobbing.

"So it is with Personna," you will continue. "Naturally you expect a brand-new blade to give a close, speedy shave. But how about a blade that's had hard and frequent use? Do you still expect a close, speedy shave? Well, sir, if it's a Personna, that's what you'll get. Because, sir, like you, sir, Personna is no flash-in-the-pan. Like you, sir, Personna abides."

He will clasp your hand then, not trusting himself to speak.

"But away with gloom!" you will cry jolly. "For I have still more good news to tell you of Personna!"

"How is that possible?" he will say.

"Hearken to me," you will say. "Personna, in all its enduring splendor, is available not only in Double Edge style but also in Injector style!"

He will join you then in the Personna rouser, and then he will bring you a steaming cup of cocoa with a marshmallow on top. Then you will say, "Good-bye, sir. I will return soon again to brighten your dark, miserable life."

"Please do," he will say. "But next time, if you can possibly manage it, try not to come at four in the morning."

FAMU Runners Splash To Win In State Invitational Meet Here

by FRANK N. STEIN
Asst. Sports Editor

In weather that was too wet for the ducks, nine track teams from Florida and Georgia splashed their way around the FSU oval for the Florida Invitational Track and Field Championship.

FAMU's cindermen proved to be the most adept mudsuckers, outpointing the Tallahassee Athletic Club (TAC) and the U of F varsity, who were locked in second place, 43-38.

The rain was no insignificant matter in the competition, as both relay events were marred by dropped baton passes. In the 440 relay FAMU's sprinters, who had captured that event at the Penn Relays, were leading by wide margin going into the final handoff. The wet baton eluded the grasp of the TAC's anchor man, however, and the team was disqualified.

In the night's final event, the mile relay, with the meet's outcome hanging in the balance, the same fate befell the Seminole thickskins on the first exchange. FSU's hopes for a third straight triumph in a meet involving all the State's major schools were shattered.

Dash man Ken White led the TAC runners with victories in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, as well as anchoring the 440 yd. relay team to victory.

Drag Racing

Drag racing becomes a reality tomorrow at 4 p.m. when the Union sponsored bicycle drag races get underway on "Seminole Drag Strip" between the Union and the swimming pool.

All students and faculty are eligible to participate. Free passes to the campus movie will be given the winners.

...Gators Giggled

With two outs in the eighth, two walks and a single loaded the bases for the Tribe, and Brown then scored on a wild pitch.

The Gator pitching began to unravel at the seams in the ninth frame, as the Seminoles tallied seven times on six walks and three singles.

Skip Lujack had two of the Gators' four hits, including a two-run homer in the ninth inning.

Saturday's abbreviated game did not quite reach the "big" innings for the Seminoles, as the rains came and halted play after the sixth frame, and the U of F made a third inning run stand up.

Winning pitcher Kelly Prior doubled to open the frame, and after a sacrifice moved him to third, he scored on a sacrifice fly.

The Seminoles travel to Jacksonville Friday for a single game with JU, before returning to Tallahassee for a second encounter with the Gators next weekend.

Bob High

Wednesday afternoon we had the pleasure of personal meeting and talking with Miami Mayor and candidate for Democratic nomination for Governor of Florida, Robert King High.

During the interview High outlined some of his disagreements with the present administration and his plans would be elected. Since we are not directly concerned in many of the statewide issues, the discussion centered mainly around Florida education and its problems. High said, and we agree, that the educational system is inadequate. In his words, "It is the number one problem to be solved."

High further contended that "Florida ranks 46th out of the 50 states in percent of expenditures for higher education and 41st in per capita expenditures."

Another point brought up by High is that the per square foot cost in a first rate university building is about $23. Purdue, $16.79 at Kansas State and more than $40 in Florida.

Discussing salaries, High said that Florida ranks 48th among the 50 states for administrative salaries, whereas for nine month salaries for professors at Harvard, for instance, are double those in Florida.

These were a few of his most impressive points. That was even more impressive, however, was his personal conviction and desire to actually do something about alleviating these problems and raising the standard Florida education to where it should be.

High has pledged himself to being a governor who does "owe his soul to insurance, phosphate or other interests" that might prevent him from doing a proper job.

In higher education he has promised to free the universities from "political meddling and interference." He believes the Board of Regents should have an autonomous office in the State.

In the financial realm High has pledged himself to working for a system whereby the legislature will appropriate lump sums with local control and legislative auditing. Also, the State Budget Commission should review total budget requests, not line items, only before legislative appropriation.

"This", he continued, "is imperative to the elimination of political control."

High noted that the Florida Legislature last year voted a 30 percent increase in expenditures for higher education over the 1963 appropriation, but the average increase for southern states was a 39 percent increase. The present administration has maintained a "hold the line" policy on educational spending. High, on the other hand, has devised a system that would allow considerable funds for education without drastically changing the tax structure or cutting down on other programs.

Education is the number one issue in this campaign. High has shown himself to be a real friend of education and a strong supporter of its growth.

He has made a "challenge to the young people of Florida to demand a new breed of politician who desires to serve, not profit in political office."

After careful consideration of both candidates, their platforms and their records, and in the belief that we can represent a general consensus of opinion on campus, we accept his challenge and editorially endorse Robert High for governor of Florida.

LARRY GONZALEZ

SBP To Marry Jean Maynard

The first FSU Student Body President to marry while in office, Larry Gonzalez, will wed Jean Coe Maynard tomorrow evening at 7:30 p.m. in Trinity Methodist Church.

Gonzalez and Miss Maynard have extended an invitation to the entire student body to attend the ceremonies. A reception is planned in the church immediately following the marriage rites.

The couple plans a two-week honeymoon to New York, and upon returning to Tallahassee they will reside in Alumni Village. Miss Maynard, who is currently interning with the Tallahassee Department of Recreation, is a senior at the U of F. She and Gonzalez met last summer when they were introduced at a People to People organizational meeting. They became engaged Christmas Eve.

"I would like to take this opportunity to invite all our friends to attend the wedding ceremonies," said Gonzalez as he issued the invitation.

AAUP On Retirement

"Retirement and Other Benefits" will be the subject of a discussion sponsored by the FSU chapter of the American Association of University Professors Monday night.

Coffee will be served at 7:30 p.m. and the meeting will be at 8 p.m. in the Florida Room of the Union. Speakers will be Frank White of the Social Security Administration, Kermit Farris of the Teacher Retirement System and Frank R. Bruckheimer, professor and head of the Geography Department.

Teacher Corps Issues Call For Recruits To Aid Poor

by MARGE VANDERVAAL

Asst. News Editor

The National Teacher Corps (NTC) is now considering applications for volunteers for the first pre-service training cycle, which will begin in June.

Deadline for mailing applications is midnight, May 31. For further information and application forms contact the "Flambeau" office, 326 Union.

Created by the Higher Education Act of 1965, the Corps has openings for both experienced teachers and college seniors who will have had no prior teaching experience. The purpose of the Corps is to "improve the quality of teaching where quality is most needed and in short supply — in city slums and areas of rural poverty," said President Lyndon B. Johnson as he signed the bill into law.

Between now and 1969, the NTC proposes to enroll 10,000 men and women. The immediate goal, however, is to place 3,750 NTC members in the nation's city and rural slum schools by this fall.

NTC volunteers will serve for two years, on invitation of the local education agencies, after pre-service training in the sociology of poverty and the teaching of the disadvantaged.

Plans call for roughly one-fourth of the members to be career teachers with a minimum of five years of general teaching experience or three years of teaching in disadvantaged schools. Some will serve alone but most will be leaders of teaching teams of inexperienced teacher-interns, who will be recruited from among all college graduates and college seniors.

Tuition-free graduate study leading to a master's degree will supplement the two-year service of all teacher-interns.

During their two-year service, NTC volunteers will earn salaries based on local rates. Training costs will be paid by the Federal Government. NTC members will also receive a stipend during pre-service training and readjustment allowances at the end of their service. They and their families will receive travel and relocation expenses.

The program hopes that by putting specially trained teachers in poverty schools across the nation that it can improve the education of culturally deprived children.

Ten percent of the families of today's school children earn under $2,000 a year. These families tend to be congregated in poverty pockets such as Harlem, Appalachia, Watts and Jackson where school budgets cannot be stretched to attract or hold enough talented teachers, said an NTC spokesman.

With a national teacher shortage estimated at 100,000 a year, and about 80,000 teachers with sub-standard credentials in classrooms, the poverty schools lose out to wealthier schools in the competition for teachers, the spokesman continued.

Therefore, these youngsters who are culturally handicapped are getting the least education. Consequently they are under-educated and continue to join the ranks of the underemployed, adding to the poverty cycle.

Obermeyer Appointed 'SS' Editor For Fall And Summer Editions

Rick Obermeyer has been appointed editor of the "Smoke Signals" for the summer and September editions. The vacancy in FSU's student magazine, which is published five times a year, was brought about by the recent resignation of Erik Collins. Collins, who was elected editor early in April, resigned, as he plans to study in Florence in the fall. Stressing that the "Smoke Signals" is the magazine of all of FSU, not just the organ of some strong-lunged clique, Obermeyer said, "I envision something close to what Smoke Signals used to be."

"This means interviews, newsfeatures, photography, fiction, poetry and, of course, humor in all its forms. I think one of my problems will be to bring them all out, and not subvert any to those I, myself, enjoy," explained Obermeyer.

Obermeyer explained that he was asked to assume the duties of "Smoke Signals" editor in order that the magazine would be published during the summer as scheduled. He said he feared that if it were not published during the third trimester, the recent proposal of the Board of Publications to combine the "Smoke Signals" and "Legend" into one publication published bi-annually would become an automatic reality. The measure is currently being studied.

Obermeyer concluded by saying that the summer edition is well underway, and that anyone interested in working on the "Smoke Signals" staff should please contact him in room 332, Union.

RICK OBERMEYER

Bitter Pill

Though it is bad enough that students are systematically excluded from participation in any of the University committees having the actual power to promulgate social regulations, perhaps the most bitter pill is that students are even more alienated from the makers of academic policy.

For years the faculty has jealously guarded this prerogative. It is time for that to change.

We recommend that students not only be included in the organizations which formulate our academic policy, but that they be allowed full participation. (If anything is more infuriating than total exclusion, it is taken inclusion.)

As former dean of students Harry Day suggested, now would be the perfect time for such a move. With the general revision and reevaluation of the curriculum necessitated by the switch to the quarter system, we are offered an excellent opportunity for soliciting the opinion of the general student body on the type of education it desires.

When the transition to the quarter was actually underway, the necessary changes could be implemented.

However, considering the reluctance with which the faculty submitted to student evaluation, this idea will probably not be well received.

Their attitude is hard to understand. Perhaps our professors have forgotten that their jobs are dependent upon student need for their talents (or, on the other hand, maybe they are all too well aware of this.)

Because they have the power to initiate such a change, and because they owe it to themselves to dispel the doubts created by their history of childish reactions to student requests, the initiative for this action rests with the professors.

Their obligation is not only social in nature, but also academic.

Education is a reciprocal process.

Clarification

In last week's paper we ran a lead story and editorial concerning the Union and the State Budget Commission. We have been reminded that the story might have been misleading due to the fact that the SBC did not actually cut the budget, rather the Budget Director Wallace Henderson did not approve it. Therefore, it has not gone before the SBC.

It is normal procedure for business going before the SBC to have Henderson's approval first. However, this is not where the real issues lie.

The issue presented on the front page was that the Union, at the end of this fiscal year (June 30), will be about $18,000 in debt unless some corrective action is taken.

In our editorial we attempted to show some of the inequalities in Florida law concerning financial administration and the effects of political interference in higher education.

Don't just sit there, Wallace Middendorp. Make a noise. Or drink Sprite, the noisy soft drink.

WALLACE MIDDENDORP SAT HERE

What did you do when Joe (Boxcar) Brkzpluj was kicked off the football team just because he flunked six out of four of his majors? What did you do, Wallace Middendorp? And when the school newspaper's editors resigned in protest because The Chancellor wouldn't allow the publication of certain salacious portions of "Night In a Girl's Dormitory" you just sat, didn't you? You've made a mockery of your life, Wallace Middendorp! You're a vegetable.

SPRITE...SO TART AND TINGLING, WE JUST COULDN'T KEEP IT QUIET.

Protest, Wallace Middendorp. Take a stand. Make a noise! Or drink Sprite, the noisy soft drink.

Open a bottle of Sprite at the next campus speak-out. Let it fizz and bubble to the masses.

Let its lusty carbonation echo through the halls of ivy.

Let its tart, tingling exuberance infect the crowd with excitement.

Do these things, Wallace Middendorp. Do these things, and what big corporation is going to hire you?

INTERIOR DESIGN

... plans and art are now on exhibit in the Art Lounge of the Union.

Student Art Exhibit Underway Now In University Union Gallery

The second annual exhibition of student work in interior design is now underway at the Union art gallery.

Featured are interiors of executive office suites, hotel rooms, restaurants, family rooms, period living and dining rooms, quick renderings and house plans for vacation living.

Several of the designs have just been returned from a recent exhibition by Jini Costello, Miami interior designer, at the annual meeting of the Florida Chapter of the American Institute of Interior Designers in Boca Raton.

Students in interior design, a department of Home and Family Life in the School of Home Economics, are preparing for future work in studios, shops, and retail establishments or as housing and design consultants. All the interiors in the exhibition were planned under job conditions.

Included in the exhibition are a summer and winter color scheme for an A-frame vacation house along with floor plans for the entire house; a Louis XVI living room in tones of wine, blue, pinks and greens; a family room with breakfast bar and fireplace wall of lime-washed bricks; and an unusual octagonal vacation house on stilts in a lake, with access only by boat.

Dr. Kay Leaves For Washington

Dr. Barbara A. Kay, assoc. professor of social welfare at FSU left Saturday for Washington, where she has accepted a three-year appointment to the staff of the Joint Commission on Correctional Manpower and Training.

Founded through the Ardenhouse Conference on Corrections in 1961, the Commission is a private agency partially underwritten by federal funds. Prior to beginning her duties on June 1, Miss Kay will attend a Commission meeting May 9-10.

In her new position Miss Kay, a sociologist, will head a task force dealing with coordination of the established professions for recruiting, training and retaining manpower in corrections.

A New Yorker, Miss Kay attended schools in Ridgewood, N.J. She received all her degrees, including her PhD from The Ohio State University, where she specialized in research and the sociology of criminal behavior.

Prior to joining the FSU faculty last year, she was assistant professor at the University of Massachusetts for two years. She has served on the faculty of Northern Illinois University and as a research fellow with the National Institute of Health. From 1955-1958, she was a research assistant on a delinquency project directed by Walter C. Reckless for the Ohio State Development Fund.

Co-author of two books with Clyde Vedder, sociologist at Northern Illinois University, Dr. Kay has written a number of articles on the female offender and on delinquency. Her memberships include the American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Correctional Association and the National Council on Crime and Delinquency. She is listed in "Who's Who in Science" and "Contemporary Authors".

School Teachers Attend Meet

"Changes and Challenges in Science Teaching" will be the theme of the Junior-Senior High School Teachers' Conference tomorrow at FSU's School of Education.

An estimated 100 junior and senior high school teachers from Florida are scheduled to attend, according to Miss Dorothy Schlitt, FSU assistant professor and coordinator of the Science Teaching Center.

The conference will get underway at 8:30 a.m. in the School of Education Lecture Hall, room 201, FSU.

faculty members scheduled to appear on the program are Dr. David D. Redfield, Dean M. L. Stone, Dr. J. Stanley Marshall, Dr. Ernest Burkman, Dr. John D. Cunningham, Dr. Earl Brakken, Dr. Relis Brown and Dr. Michael Kasha.

Also on the program will be G. Race Woodman, area coordinator for the Princeton Project at Nova High School at Fort Lauderdale.

The conference is sponsored by the Florida State Department of Education and FSU.

HS Scholars To Tour Campuses

High school scholars will tour FSU Monday morning as part of the second annual Student Teacher Achievement Recognition (STAR) event.

Two students from each congressional district and a teacher will participate in the tour. The students are seniors with top scores on national scholastic aptitude tests as graded by an independent agency in Princeton, N.J.

The event will get underway tomorrow with a recognition banquet in Jacksonville where the 1966 STAR student and teacher will be named. Featured speaker for the event will be Floyd Christian, State superintendent of public instruction, who will arrive at FSU late Sunday evening. Monday morning after breakfast they will tour the Computing Center and physics facilities and have lunch before departing for a visit to the U of F.

During the week, the group will visit colleges, businesses, industrial plants and tourist attractions from Tallahassee to St. Petersburg, Orlando, Cape Kennedy and Miami.

Fallon To Head Theatre Festival

A company of 70 will present five plays at The Asolo Theater Festival's seventh season July 7-Aug. 27 in Sarasota.

Headed up by Richard Fallon, director of theater at FSU, the company will open the season with William Shakespeare's "Much Ado About Nothing." It will be followed by "The Miser" by Moliere. The third offering will be Academy Award winner Robert Bolt's "A Man For All Seasons." Finishing the season will be "Oedipus" by Sophocles and Ionesco's "The Bald Soprano," the last two on one night.

A vacation package plan, initiated last summer, will again be offered this year, Fallon said. On this plan two people can go to Sarasota, stay three days and see three plays for $55.85. The vacation package deal is priced at $33.10 for one person. Season subscription booklets for all four productions are $13.50. Performances will be nightly at 8:30 p.m., with matinees at 2:30 p.m. on Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays beginning Friday, July 15. Ticket prices range from $1.30 to $4.40 each.

The original Asolo Theater was built in 1798 in the former audience hall of the castle of the 15th Century Queen Catherine Cornaro in Venice, Italy, 20 miles northwest of Venice. The old wooden theater was dismantled in 1930 and in 1949 the interior was purchased by the State of Florida for the Ringling Museum and transferred to its own building in 1957. The theater was widened slightly to provide two entrances, but otherwise it remains just as it was in Asolo.

Rocket Men To Invade Westcott Again With Campus Film Series

The third episode of "King of the Rocket Men" will be presented by the Campus Movie Series with the movie "From Here to Eternity" tonight and tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. in Westcott Auditorium. Admission is $2.25.

When the series ended last week, the hero and his girlfriend were facing a flaming death, trapped in the fiery wreckage of a burning car.

"The question this week is whether the infamous Dr. Vulcan will triumph in his fight to gain control of the strange new weapon capable of disintegrating rock strata, or will our hero thwart him once again," says George Jones, chairman of the Union Film Committee.

"It's worse than Batman, you'll love it," Jones promised.

"From Here to Eternity," based on the novel by James Jones, is the finely drawn story of army life at Schofield Barracks, Honolulu, just prior to Pearl Harbor.

Geology Gets Grant

Grants totaling $1500 from the Socom Mobil Oil Company and the Chevron Oil Company were announced today by FSU's Dept. of Geology.

Department Chairman George W. DeVore said the California Company Division of Chevron is making several undergraduate scholarship awards available to universities "having outstanding technical departments," and FSU is getting one such award for 1966-67.

A $500 award will be made to an outstanding junior for the senior year and another $500 will go to the Geology Department for unrestricted use.

DeVore said Mobil is renewing a cash award of $500 for 1966-67 for unrestricted use by the department in the area of micropaleontology.

Recital Tomorrow

Ruby Morgan will present a Master's recital tomorrow evening at 8:15 p.m. in Opperman Music Hall. Miss Morgan, who has studied piano at the studio of Edward Kilenyi, will open her program with Beethoven's "Sonata in E flat."

Included in the recital will be numbers by Franck, Brahms and Debussy. Miss Morgan will conclude with "Capriccio in B minor" by Dohnanyi.

Conductor's Symposium Planned

Applications now are being accepted for FSU's third annual Conducting Symposium May 23-28.

The Symposium is for young experienced conductors. It will be directed by Richard Burgin, former associate conductor of the Boston Symphony and now professor of music at FSU, and Robert Sedore, director of orchestras at FSU.

The program will include techniques of directing college and community orchestras and the study of the conducting of representative scores from the 18th, 19th and 20th Century.

Only 12 to 15 applicants can be accepted, Sedore said. Each registrant will have the opportunity to conduct the chamber orchestra which will be made up of members of the Symposium and FSU students. A selected group of the registrants will conduct in a final concert at the FSU Symphony May 28.

The Old Days Before Computers When Dating Was 'Dangerous'

(ACP)—Little Johnny sat on his grandfather's lap and said, "Tell me about the old days again, Grandpa. You know, before the computers." Grandpa smiled and looked dreamily through his spectacles. "Ah, yes, those were the days," he mused. "Of course conditions were terrible. People had to think for themselves and even make decisions. But you know, there was something about those times."

"Tell me about dating again, Grandpa. I want to hear about the girls."

"Well, there was one time I remember, it must have been back in '65. Yeah, it was '65 all right, cause I remember the computers came in '66."

"I was walking across the old campus one day and I saw this girl just standing there, looking real cute. So, being a guy blade in them days, I just sort of sauntered up to her and struck up a conversation."

And I got a date with her that very night."

"Wow, Grandpa! You must be the bravest man in the whole world. You didn't even know if you two were compatible, did you?"

"Nope. Sure didn't. Funny though, it didn't seem to matter a whole lot at the time."

"But weren't you scared? I mean, you didn't even know if you both felt the same way about abortion?"

"Well, I guess I was a little nervous, all right. Cause I didn't even know if she was powerful, intelligent, giving or asexual."

"Well, that was the chance we had to take back then."

"Boy, I'll bet it was a real drag, not knowing a thing about her, Grandpa. What ever happened to the old girl, anyway?"

"She's out in the kitchen, sonny. I been married to that old gal for 56 years. Damn, I wish we were compatible."

FSU Has New Sperator Device

Scientists at FSU have begun using a new device, considered to be the third major installation in FSU's Nuclear Research Bldg., which separates elements into pure isotopes.

The isotope separator, one of only a few in the country, is the first of its particular type in America; its prototype is at Aarhus, Denmark. When the University of Aarhus was getting ready to order parts for a separator it planned to assemble, FSU got the Danish university to "double" the order so FSU also could assemble one.

Over the past nine months engineers have been assembling the isotope separator in a room specially constructed in the west end of the Nuclear Research Building.

It has just been tested and put into service, and scientists already have separated isotopes of such elements as argon for use as targets in experiments with the 12 million electron volt tandem Van de Graaff accelerator down the hall. This accelerator and a smaller Van de Graaff, in use five and six years respectively, are the major pieces of experimental equipment in the four-story Nuclear Research Bldg. Isotopes of a substance differ by weight, and to separate them a principle similar to that used in a cream separator therefore is used. Small amounts of an element in powder, liquid, or gaseous form, are converted to charged ions. These ions are accelerated down the magnet chamber producing a pencil-sized beam.

The magnet separates the beam into two or more beams corresponding to the number of isotopes. Heavier isotopes take an outside path along the curving magnet chamber and lighter ones a shorter path, just as heavier fish line sinkers lug around the head on rubber bands make a larger circle than lighter ones.

By the time the several beams have traveled a total distance of about 20 feet, pure isotopic targets are formed on foils at one extremity of the crescent-shaped separator. Dr. Raymond K. Shelline, professor of chemistry and physics and chairman of FSU's Nuclear Science Advisory Committee, arranged with Dr. Karl Ove Nielsen, professor of physics at the University of Aarhus, to obtain the Danish components of the instrument while Shelline was in Europe somewhat over a year ago. The original model of the separator was constructed by Nielsen and Dr. Otto Skibrid.

By obtaining the Danish model FSU has taken advantage of Scandinavian technology, which has specialized in isotope separators, and also has obtained for a cost of about $50,000 what could be duplicated on the open market only by a separator costing about $200,000, Shelline said.

The separator is somewhat of a "little brother" to the calutrons at Oak Ridge, which separate large amounts of isotopes but produce isotopes of lower purity.

Dr. Vagn Toft, an engineer from the University of Aarhus, came to FSU last March for a 12-month assignment to help install the separator. Ken Chellis, FSU's engineer-in-charge of the separator, and Toft have been installing the device and testing it.

Chellis, formerly technician for the 3MEV electron accelerator, spent last January and February in Denmark learning the technology of the machine after completing another assignment at Karlsruhe, Germany.

In addition to preparing stable isotopes (various elements have from two to eight or ten of these), the separator also can be used to provide unstable, shortlived isotopes when these are needed in experiments. These, however, must be obtained from Oak Ridge National Laboratory and then separated further.

A new 1967 fall wardrobe is being designed for the FSU campus by its administration and its educators. The newest style in the Board of Regents' fashions, the quarter system, will adorn campus in Sept. 1967. The President's Council, the body that recommended the switch, stipulated that there be adequate time to mend the bulges of the curriculum and lower the hem lines before the change is initiated. This would allow the new system to be easily fitted into the University form.

At present, a committee consisting of representatives of every department and school on campus and under the direction of Dr. Karl Dittmer, vice-pres. of academic affairs, and Dr. Odell Walby, asst. vice-pres. of academic affairs, is working on a tailored program for the quarter system.

shorter, which means less time for lecture and more time for individual study.

Exact technicalities are being worked on now, such as the class schedule, exam schedule, tuition fees, housing fees, credit hours and so forth.

The Flambeau will cover the progress of the committees periodically.

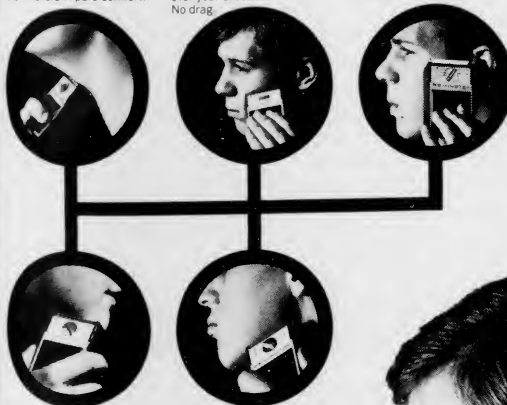

The no-drag shaver. In 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, and 5th.

The REMINGTON® 200 Selectro Shaver is a new model. Different from anything you've used before. It has a dial with 5 positions that lets you shift over all the different parts of your face.

In 1st, you get a smoother start on your neck. Gets all the whiskers in pure comfort.

In 3rd, you get this wild drifting sensation as you go over your cheek. No burn. No drag.

5th is the finishing line. You couldn't get straighter sideburns at the barber's.

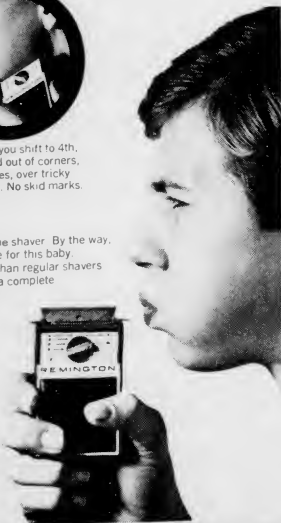

In 2nd, you can knock off a couple of days' growth without any trouble.

By the time you shift to 4th, you're in and out of corners, around curves, over tricky tender spots. No skid marks.

6th is for cleaning out the shaver. By the way, don't expect to pay more for this baby. It's actually a little less than regular shavers. Remington also makes a complete line of cordless shavers.

Graduate Grants Given Education

It was announced today that FSU has received 24 graduate fellowships under the United States Office of Education's new Prospective Teacher Fellowship Program.

Fellowships are provided for music education, art education, social science education, science education, English and speech education and foreign language education, Acting Dean Thomas R. Lewis of the Graduate School said.

Twelve institutions in the country received 24 fellowships. No institution received more than this number. Fellows will receive $2,000 the first year of academic study and $2,200 for the second year, with an additional allowance of $400 for each dependent. The institution will receive a cost of education allowance for each student. The total amount to Florida State for the two-year period will be $220,000.

The Prospective Teacher Fellowship Program is open to recent college graduates who have done no teaching for pay up to this time. "Recent" is defined as ranging from those just completing the baccalaureate degree to those having completed the degree within three years.

Tribe Adds Eagle Feathers To Bonnet ; Now Rated Second in National Poll

by LARRY SPALDING
Flambeau Sports Writer

FSU batters pounded out 18 hits and 20 runs to sweep a two game series with the Georgia Southern Eagles by scores of 10-0 and 10-0, Monday and Tuesday at Seminole Field.

In Monday's contest the Seminoles began the scoring parade in the first inning when shortstop Gary Sprague singled and scored on back-to-back singles by leftfielder Tom Thomas and first baseman Pete Sarron.

With two out in the second inning, Tribe pitcher Marvin Stringfellow hit the first pitch to him over the right field fence 330 feet away. Catcher Randy Brown continued the attack in the third as he blasted a solo homer over the fence in right center over 380 feet away.

Although the Seminoles were shut out in the fourth, they stormed back in the fifth for six runs. Sprague got on base on an error after Stringfellow had filed out to right field. Jim Lytle and Brown then walked to fill the bases.

Thomas and Sarron then got their second hits of the day to drive in three runs. Maury Hopkins was then hit by a pitched ball to load the bases again.

Centerfielder Mike Martin and second baseman Dick Fernandez then walked to score Thomas and Sarron. The final run came when Hopkins was forced in by Sprague's being hit by a pitched ball, before the side was retired with the bases filled.

Brown started off the sixth inning with a walk and came all the way home on a three base error by Southern's second sacker, before the rest of the Tribe was retired in order.

Stringfellow held the Eagles to six scattered hits and one walk, while striking out nine en route to his fifth win against four setbacks this season.

In Tuesday's game the Tribe once again scored in the first. Sprague opened the inning with a double and was driven home by Brown's triple. Brown, however, remained stranded as the Eagles retired the side.

After Hopkins opened the second inning by flying out to deep right field, Martin walked and stole second. He came home on Fernandez's sharp single to center.

Trails So. Calif. By Three Votes

FSU moved to within three points of first place Southern California in the latest national "Collegiate Baseball" Poll released earlier this week.

The Seminoles who are 30-10 for the year have collected nine first place votes and a total of 387 that puts them just behind the Trojan's who have led the poll all year. Southern Cal also had nine first place votes.

Behind FSU in third place is Michigan, while Washington and Tennessee round out the top five.

Occupying sixth through tenth spots are North Carolina, Ohio State, Arizona State, Arizona and Minnesota. Each of the top ten schools received 17. The Seminoles collected four hits in eight trips in two games at least one vote for first place, against the Eagles, including his fifth home run and first triple.

READY TO CONNECT

... with another Georgia Southern pitch is FSU catcher Randy Brown. The Seminoles backstop collected four hits in eight trips in two games at least one vote for first place, against the Eagles, including his fifth home run and first triple.

SEMINOLE SCORECARD

by HANK SCHOMBER
Flambeau Sports Editor

In a very real way FSU's baseball team and the University itself is being cheated.

Where college baseball is concerned, FSU is in the same position that Alabama is in football or Kentucky in basketball -- a perennial powerhouse.

Through the efforts of the Athletic Dept., Director Vaughn Mancha and Coaches Danny Litwhiler (now at Michigan State) and Fred Hatfield, the Seminoles have been rounded into one of the most respected college baseball teams in the country.

Not only occasionally when they get an exceptional pitcher and a couple of fair hitters, but year in and year out they have to be considered a threat.

Where are they being cheated? Outside of this immediate area (Tallahassee), an extremely limited number of people are aware of their ability.

College baseball across the country receives very little national and, in some areas, local coverage. Even the coaches of the college teams have problems in finding information about their opposition.

Until last year the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) did not keep national statistics on college baseball -- individual or team.

Only through the NCAA's CollegeWorld Series is any real national interest generated in college ball.

One of the biggest handicaps to creating more baseball interest is a complete lack of national press coverage. Of course it can be argued that there is no interest, therefore why is coverage needed, but then one can ask the age old question "which came first the chicken or the egg?"

National sports magazines give almost no recognition to college baseball, and the major wire news services are almost as bad.

The sports magazines, which manage to give an indepth coverage to professional and collegiate football and basketball (and from time to time a glance at high school activities), turn a deaf ear to the nation's universities when baseball season approaches.

The national press services' coverage is so bad for example, that, when FSU plays an out of state game, the results of that contest rarely come back to Tallahassee unless they are called back by a member of the team's entourage.

Even on a local level, newspapers are often not interested enough to send a reporter to a game and rely on the school's sports publicity department to furnish them with a game story. (Among the papers that fall into this category, we are sorry to say, is the "Tallahassee Democrat".)

In an attempt to bridge the nationwide gap, "Collegiate Baseball," a bi-monthly tabloid, is published in Arizona, but a poor communications network already existing makes its effort a vain one.

The Arizona publication has created even another problem. Since it can naturally obtain information more readily from teams in its immediate area, the southwest has become recognized as the "hotbed" of college baseball.

While not trying to detract from the caliber of ball in the West, the Southeast also has a number of representative teams that give this area as tough, if not tougher, competition than the desert region.

Mississippi State, Tennessee and Auburn all have ball teams of championship caliber in the Southeastern Conference (the latter two own victories over the Seminoles.)

Wake Forest, which also downed FSU, and Clemson are traditionally strong teams in the Atlantic Coast and Southern Conferences, while independents Georgia Southern College and Jacksonville University have been developing stronger and stronger teams.

Seminole starter Marty Brooks blanked the Eagles through the first two innings, but ran into trouble in the third as he conceded four runs on four hits and a base on balls before he was relieved by Eddie Howell.

With two men on base, Howell threw a hard curve to the batter who hit into a big double play to end the threat, but the Eagles led 4-2. In the third inning Brown lined a hard single to right and then stole second. Thomas walked, and two strikes later, Brown and Thomas pulled off an unusual double steal as the bewildered Southern catcher looked on.

Despite this, the next three Seminoles went down, stranding the base runners.

The Eagles picked up an unearned run in their half of the fourth on a throwing error by Brown, increasing their lead to 5-2.

In the bottom of the fourth Fernandez lined a double to left and advanced to third on Howell's chopper to first. Sprague walked to five the Seminoles two base runners.

Jim Lyttle lined a single to right, scoring Fernandez, thus moving Sprague to third, and took second on the throw to third.

Thomas took advantage of a Southern error and reached first safely while Sprague and Lyttle scored. Thomas stole second, but was left stranded as Sarron was thrown out by the pitcher, leaving the score tied 5-5.

The Seminoles struck again in the fifth. With one out, Martin walked and stole second. He scored on a single by Fernandez, who took second when Howell hit a fielder's choice to the Eagle pitcher Jim Dobson. Dobson threw to second, but the ball was dropped, leaving both Howell and Fernandez safely on base.

Sprague collected his second hit, driving in Fernandez. Sprague took second on Lyttle's fly to deep center field. With two outs, Howell and Sprague came home on Brown's third hit of the day.

On the first pitch Brown stole his third base of the day, bringing his season's total to 23, six better than the record of 17 that he set last year.

The Seminoles scored their final and winning run in the sixth when Hopkins doubled and came home on Martin's single to right.

Martin was then thrown out as he attempted to steal second. This was the only unsuccessful steal of the game for the Tribe, which had a team total of 8.

Howell, who had blanked Southern in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings, ran into trouble in the eighth as he gave up two walks, two singles and a home run by Dobson for a total of four runs. But the Southern rally fell one short.

The win was Howell's fifth in seven decisions.

The Seminoles take their 30-10 record to Jacksonville today for a single game with the Dolphins.

All these schools, however, go almost unrecognized outside their home areas.

Already, as is the case in football and basketball, it is expected that college baseball will become the major stepping stone to the professional ranks. When this occurs the college sport will of necessity have more coverage, but until that time it appears that it will have to remain in obscurity.

Baseball, it has been claimed, is "our National Pastime." If this is the case, the all baseball should be of interest to all the nation.

A baseball player gets out and plays as hard as any other athlete, and in college simple recognition is often the only reward an athlete receives. The Szkotkiewicz and the Stefkovichs deserve as much publicity as the Steve Sloans and Lou Dampiers.

SES Presents 'We Five' Tickets On Sale Tomorrow

Flambeau Staff Writer

The Student Entertainment Series will present the We Five group in Westcott Auditorium, Thursday night, May 26, at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. Tickets go on sale tomorrow in the Union Ticket Office at $1.50 per person, and all seats will be reserved.

Appearing with the We Five group will be George McKelvey, comedian and vocalist.

The scheduling of such an attraction during the summer trimester is a first to the Entertainment Series at FSU, said Kay Vernon, director of Special events at FSU.

"The original We Five single recording, 'You Were On My Mind,' has become virtually a household phrase," stated Mrs. Vernon. "The music of this group is more refined and inspired and transcends beyond a mere commercial beat. It is evolved from reality and honest feeling." The group started approximately three years ago when Mike Stewart, whose brother John is one-third of the Kingston Trio, formed a largely folk-oriented group. This effort, however, failed, and it was only after hours of revisions and refinements that the nucleus of an excitingly individual music concept formed, said Mrs. Vernon.

The music of the group is largely oriented around the sole female vocalist, Bev Vivens, who can sing both low tenor and high soprano. According to Mrs. Vernon, "The group's album 'Thought and Soul' shows the quality and variation of the talents involved."

With FSU 36 Years

Women's Dean Retires June 30

Elizabeth Lynn, FSU's associate dean of women, is retiring on June 30 after 36 years with FSU, 17 of them as a member of the Physics Department.

Miss Lynn brought the Physics Department faculty to a membership of two when she began teaching at FSU in 1930. One of the courses she taught was astronomy.

She recalls that during World War II somewhat of a stir was caused when the college telescope, mounted on wheels on the first floor of Westcott Building, was wheeled out in front of Westcott one night. A crowd collected, mistaking it for an anti-aircraft gun.

Miss Lynn taught the first meteorology course, started during the war, and in addition to teaching during the early days she doubled as the school's audio-visual service. This involved luging a movie projector to wherever it was needed on campus.

War-time produced other tasks also. She remembers rolling bandages and re-knitting Red Cross sweaters—"We had to re-knit the necks so something bigger than an orange would go through"—and victory gardens on campus where the co-eds worked industriously growing carrots, radishes and tomatoes.

Before the war there was the Depression. From a starting salary of $1900 a year, Miss Lynn and other instructors were cut to $1600 by legislative action about three years after she came to the campus. It was 1939 before her salary and others got back to the 1930 starting point.

One time, when the faculty was all set for a raise and the legislature had approved additional funds, there was great disappointment when the university had to spend the money "for a new boiler and a registered bull" for the dairy herd.

Two of the committees on which she served made important contributions to the university. One helped organize a major in the field of recreation, and another helped get campus mail service started, telephones installed in academic offices and public telephones placed in most academic buildings.

Flambeau Forum' Will Feature John Carey Tomorrow Night

Flambeau Forum' will feature of Students John Carey at 10 tomorrow night on WTAL.

The subject of the half-hour interview and discussion program will be the role of students in a university.

According to program moderator Dave Nelson, "This week we will attempt to open the show up to the listening audience by asking the guest speaker phoned-in questions. We feel this will make the program more interesting and meaningful to the listener."

The phone number for the station is 222-1270. Phoned-in questions will be taken by a man on duty, and as many of them as possible will be asked. Whether or not a particular question is asked will depend on time available and the trends of the discussion.

Carey has been dean of students since May 1. Previously he has been asst. dean of the graduate school and asst. professor of religion at FSU.

"WHICH IS EARNEST?"

... seems to be the question which concerns Gail Strickland, Gwendolyn (It.), and Margaret Kaler, Cecily, as they rehearse for "The Importance of Being Earnest" which will be presented May 25-29 in Conradi Theater. Tickets for the performances will go on sale Monday at the Union Ticket Office at $.75 for students and children and $1.50 for non-students.

DR. JOHN CAREY

The Gulf

There exists a gulf between the faculty and the students which seems to defy all laws of reason. One may well ask why these two groups, with so much in common, are often so alienated from one another.

Both have a direct concern with education, with academic freedom and with the general direction taken by the University.

However, as we have noted before in other editorials, faculty members are reluctant to seek student involvement in academic affairs, concerning themselves only rarely with the academic freedom of students.

Their problems with political interference, raises, general requirements, etc., are handled in the closed sessions of the faculty senate. It is no wonder then that the students usually ignore the issues facing the faculty. They either just do not know of their existence, or don't feel concerned with them. The faculty has often given the definite impression that its problems are not of student concern.

Because of this, the relationship between scholar and student is obscured, to the detriment of both.

Each forgets that what affects one group invariably affects the other, though admittedly with varying degrees of directness.

The academic freedom of the faculty, for instance, cannot be restricted without damage being done to the quality of education received by the students. Nor can student freedom long survive in such an atmosphere.

Conversely, if the faculty allows students to be denied due process and other civil rights, it should not be surprised when it finds itself being treated in the same way.

This whole situation must be considered in the context of the position of these two groups in relation to the University Administration. Since the Administration is hired by officials of the State Government, it has certain obligations, both written and unwritten, to represent its employers (and quite a number of people can claim to fall within this category).

Returning to our example of academic freedom, we can now see that when the Administration, pressed by the hostile politician, acts, it does so as the agent of the State, with all the powers of a State agency.

The existing situation only enhances the Administrative position by allowing it to deal with the objects of its action, the faculty and the students, separately. This prevents the united strength of both from being brought to bear against the Administration as a defense action. (And here, in this area of the country where little distinction is made between academic and non-academic freedom, it is exceedingly dangerous to let any administrative challenge to civil liberties go unanswered.)

The fact that the two University groups with the most potential are unable to work together can only result in weakness under attack, and no more than partial academic fulfillment in other times.

Vast Conspiracy Afoot In The South

There is a vast conspiracy afoot in the South. This is not a remnant of the one-time "Communist Conspiracy" which placed 625, or else 210, card-carrying Communists in the State Department. But it is instead a much more dire threat, although still from a foreign land (sometimes known as the "North"). The conspiracy is thought to be headed by a pair of brothers who generally go by the code name "Kennedy." This name has undoubtedly been picked up in an effort to attach the name of a former American President to the movement and provide it with legitimacy. But some members of the observant public have not been deceived by this. The reputations of these brothers are known to be discreditable, even in the North. One of the brothers was suspended by a large Massachusetts corporation for falsifying some "documents" in his earlier days. The other brother is known to have suddenly changed his residence to another state in 1964, the reasons for this not yet clearly explainable. Backing them both and their cohorts in lower political and "academic" circles are large amounts of money, the possession and use of which is clearly un-American and a totally foreign idea in the politics of the Southern states, such as Florida. It is obvious that the only road to power in the "Eastern Establishment" center of Washington is through the South, if the State is clearly un-American and a totally foreign idea in the politics of the Southern states, such as Florida. "Kennedyites," the chance of the brothers grows to tremendous proportions. Thus, we find such suspected Kennedys as Richmond Flowers and Robert King High, as well as a number of others, have been supported by vast amounts of cash coming directly from the pockets of the "Kennedy" brothers. In fact, if all claims of such financial help are correct as stated by the opponents of the two mentioned politicians and the others throughout the South, then the Kennedy brothers have thus far invested at least $622,409,651.75 in the primary elections this year. Their undoubtedly bottomless resources will probably provide much more in the way of such assistance in the coming year. This Northern conspiracy can be overcome, however, Kennedys can usually be spotted by the fact that they are making extremely radical demands on the South, such as "Integrity" in the office of the governor, calling for equal opportunity for all.

Quite obviously, such demands would never have been made unless they were backed by "Kennedy money." This can be verified by asking the simple question: "Where such demands ever made before the rise of the Kennedys in the North?" Certainly not. The correlation is striking.

Thus, we must be wary of any of the radical extremists making the demands mentioned above or others similar to them. For if we are not, the "Kennedy conspiracy" is liable to take control of the South, make it a satellite of Washington and possibly even make the state governments responsible to and for the welfare of all the people within their jurisdiction. This latter is indubitably one of the primary goals of the "Kennedy conspiracy."

Launch an Exciting Career as an Intelligence Specialist

Comprehensive Career Development Plan for College Graduates Helps You Grow Swiftly into Positions of Responsibility and Exceptional Challenge.

The Defense Intelligence Agency (DIA) is a unique, independent organization serving diverse intelligence requirements of the Department of Defense. We are active in many areas directly or indirectly related to national security... analyzing not only purely military conditions, trends and forces, but also pertinent economic, social, cultural, physical, geographic and scientific factors.

Each year we seek out qualified individuals for DIA's entry level Career Development Plan. This is a program designed both to equip you for a responsible and challenging permanent career position, and enable you to complete most or all requirements for an advanced degree.

THREE-MONTH ORIENTATION COURSE

All college graduate recruits attend a three-month Intelligence Orientation Course. Its objectives are to orient the trainee to the Department of Defense generally and the Defense Intelligence Agency specifically, with particular emphasis on the role of civilian analysts in the military intelligence community.

Following completion of this course, trainees are assigned to substantive areas of work related to their disciplines. At the beginning of the second year, they will be selected for a specific assignment leading to a position as permanent member of the work force.

OPPORTUNITY FOR ADVANCED STUDY

All trainees are eligible for educational programs leading to advanced degrees. These opportunities—plus many additional training opportunities—may be provided either during or after normal working hours (or both).

You will find that the advantages of a career at DIA are many and varied, including the liberal fringe benefits associated with Federal employment. Our locations (the Pentagon and nearby Arlington, Va.) afford you the choice of city, suburban or country living... and a wealth of recreational, cultural, historical and educational attractions are within a few minutes' drive.

And by no means least, you will derive much satisfaction from contributing personally to the achievement of vital national objectives.

VISIT YOUR PLACEMENT OFFICE NOW

... for further information about DIA career opportunities. You may write DIA headquarters for additional literature. Note: All applicants must be U.S. citizens, subject to thorough background inquiry and physical examination.

...Dean Lynn To Retire Soon

During her last four years of teaching, Miss Lynn lived in Landis Hall where she served in her spare time, as counselor for a select group of senior women students who established their own rules and regulations.

As an outgrowth of this interest and experience, Miss Lynn was invited to join the Dean of Women's staff in 1947.

In this position she has trained an average of 100 junior counselors each year and worked with many organizations and groups. "When people think of our work they think of discipline," Miss Lynn said, "but actually most of our time goes into planning for women students and working with individuals and groups."

A native of Palatka, Miss Lynn received the A.B. degree from Agnes Scott College where she taught physics and mathematics for two years. She holds the M.A. from the University of Wisconsin and has done graduate work at the University of Washington and the University of Colorado.

After her retirement in June, she plans to spend several months at her family's mountain cottage 16 miles from Asheville, N.C. Traveling with her will be her mother, 90, and father, 91.

On returning to Tallahassee, she plans to spend some time with her photography and gardening.

'Green Magic' Tonight

"Green Magic" will be presented by the Classic Film Series this evening in Moore Auditorium at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. Admission is $50.

The film, a winner of Cannes and Berlin Film Festival Awards, is a documentary of the Bonzi expedition across South America from Rio de Janeiro to Lima.

VOTE TUESDAY, MAY 24
summer senators. Fifteen positions will be filled in this election. The polls will be located at Bryan Hall, Westcott Auditorium, University Union, Seminole College, and Kellum Hall.

Program To Aid Some Disabled

FSU will initiate a new graduate program in rehabilitation counseling this fall to train personnel in the job of aiding the emotionally and physically handicapped to become contributing members of society.

Heading the Vocational Rehabilitation Counselor Training program is the Dept. of Special Education in Vocational Rehabilitation under Dr. Frank H. Echols. Formerly assistant director of the State's Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, Echols said approximately 30 students are expected to begin course work this fall.

Upon graduation, the students will receive a Master's degree, included in the three trimesters of course work is instruction in a wide variety of subjects including counseling, vocational rehabilitation history and philosophy, rehabilitation process and techniques, psychological and aptitude testing, and special information, psychological and social problems of disability and problems of special disabilities.

The final trimester of the program will be spent in internship with a rehabilitation agency or facility. The counselor's primary function is to aid the handicapped in becoming constructive and contributing members of society.

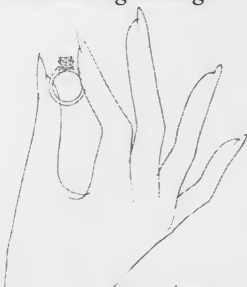

Echols said a number of traineeship grants are available through the U.S. Vocational Rehabilitation Administration. The traineeships' stipends total $1,800 for the first year and $2,000 for the second year. Tuition and fees are also paid for students receiving grants.

The program coordinator pointed out that state and federal rehabilitation agencies are expanding their programs at a rapid rate, and the supply of trained counselors is inadequate. Starting salaries in the Southwest range from $6,000 to $6,700 a year.

Additional information may be had by contacting Dr. Echols at FSU's School of Education.

Jax Here Tomorrow

Brown's Blast Batters Dolphins

by LARRY SPALDING

Flambeau Sports Writer
Catcher Randy Brown's grand-slam home run and six RBI's powered a 19 hit Seminole attack, as the sluggers rolled past Jacksonville University 15-5 Friday afternoon in Jacksonville.

Friday the 13th left its mark on the Seminoles, however, when FSU third baseman Maury Hopkins was injured in the ninth inning. He is not expected to return to the line-up this year.

FSU started the scoring parade in the top of the second inning on a FSU lead to 4-2. In the seventh the Seminoles picked fielder Mike Martin's single and second sacker Dick Fernandez' double to the fence in left-center field, to lead 3-0.

The Tribe added one more tally in the third when Brown walked and left fielder Tom Thomas doubled, advancing Brown to third base. Brown scored when first baseman Pete Sarron left a sacrifice fly to deep right field.

In the bottom of the third, Jacksonville's third baseman Floyd Perry drilled a two run homer over the left-center field fence to cut the FSU lead to 4-2.

With two out in the fourth, pitcher

Wayne Vincent connected for a double and scored on shortstop Gary Sprague's single.

After going down in order in the fifth, the Tribe exploded for four runs in the sixth inning. After he singled, Martin stole second, but was cut down at third as Vincent hit into a fielder's choice.

Consecutive singles by Sprague and right fielder Jim Lyttle moved Vincent to third to load the bases. Then Brown hit his grand slam and extended the FSU lead to 9-2.

In the seventh the Seminoles picked (See BLAST page 8)

Hopkins Out For Season; Broken Hand Sidelines Star

Maury Hopkins, FSU's hard-hitting third baseman, received a broken hand in a ninth inning sliding incident against Jacksonville University Friday.

A bone in the back of Hopkins' left hand was broken when Bob Rankin slid into the Seminole third-sacker. Rankin's spikes were high and caught Hopkins' glove hand. Hopkins, who was batting .292 with five home runs and nine doubles, will probably be lost to the Tribe for the remainder of the season. Head Coach Fred Hatfield said he would probably play Gary Lawrence or Bob Garry in Hopkins' place. "And there are a few other changes we could make," he continued.

"We certainly have to lose Hopkins this late in the season," said Hatfield, who is looking for a bid to the NCAA District VII baseball championships in June. "His ability at the plate, especially with his switch-hitting, will be missed."

"The entire game was rough, there were a couple of other occasions of high sliding, and Hopkins caught the brunt of it," added Hatfield. While the Seminoles for the most part have escaped the injury bug this year, Hopkins appeared to be plagued with what bad luck has come to the Tribe.

Earlier this season, he was sidelined for several games after colliding with catcher Randy Brown while both were chasing a pop foul along the third baseline.

Last week in a game against Georgia Southern, the senior third-sacker was hit in the eye when a ground ball took a bad hop.

... Blast Batters Jax

up where they left off in the sixth. Sarron led off the inning with a single that was followed by third baseman Maury Hopkins' fly out to center field.

Martin and Fernandez singled to score Sarron, and Vincent walked to load the bases for the second time in the game.

Sprague singled, driving in Martin and Fernandez, before Lyttle doubled to right-center to score Vincent. A single by Brown pushed Sprague and Lyttle across, but Brown was thrown out trying to stretch the hit into a double.

Thomas filed out to end the inning with the Tribe ahead 15-2.

The Dolphins picked up their last two runs in the ninth when Bob Rankin was hit by Marty Brooks, who had taken over the chores for Vincent.

Rankin went to second on a passed ball, and took third when shortstop Neal Kapp lined to Sprague at short.

On the play, Rankin kicked the ball out of Hopkins' hand and the third-sacker left the game with a broken hand.

Perry then singled in Rankin, and Kapp scored on a wild pitch, but the JU rally fell far short as the Seminoles won 15-5.

During the game Vincent fanned 15 batters to bring his season's total to 100, only 12 short of the season strikeout record of 112 set by Tony Available in 1956.

This win was Vincent's ninth against only one setback; in addition, he sports a 1.37 earned run average. The Dolphin's prize pitcher John Von Achen absorbed the loss to give him a 9-4 record for the season. JU now stands at 10-9.

The Seminoles will put their 31-10 record on the line against JU again tomorrow at 3 p.m. at Seminole Field.

GUARDING AGAINST

... would-be ballot box stuffers for Tuesday's Summer Senate elections. A member of the FSU Elections Commission, Due to the tight security measures enforced by Student Government, 15 Summer Senators will be easily elected Tuesday.

Election Commission Sets Schedule For Tuesday Vote

... Minister of Elections Marabeth ... today announced complete plans for Tuesday's campus election for Summer Senate ...

... According to Miss Miller, the five candidates receiving the most ... will fill the vacant Summer ... seats. There will be no run-off ...

... included on the ballot will be a ... vote for governor listing the ... Democratic nominee candidates, ... John Burns and Robert King High, ... the Republican nominee, Claude ...

University Party candidates for Summer Senate seats are Beverly Baker, Sandra Beebe, David Ford, Kamie Kanneite, Gene Raines, Ed Ryner, Mel Smith, Ken Thigpen, Pusby Tunnicliff and Linda Vephula. Anne Bonford, Hines Boyd, Suzanne Deshaio, Richard Hamilton, Anne Lang, Terry Mitchell, Don Norris, Caroline Poole and Christie Walker will run on the Student Party slate.

Independent candidates are Ted Culppepper, John Hornbuckle, Bob Kiehlert and Jim Stahl. Polls will be located at Bryan Hall, the Seminole Club, the Union and Salley Hall. They will remain open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Standard voting procedures will be observed, continued Miss Miller. In order to vote, students must present both their ID and registration cards. Circle K, Sophomore Council, Alpha Phi Omega and Gamma Sigma Sigma will supply poll workers.

"As Summer Senate is an important legislative body, I would like to take this opportunity to urge all students to vote Tuesday," Miss Miller exhorted.

Summer Senate is responsible for passing legislation which will be effective for the third trimester. It may also propose legislation for and make recommendations to the regular Student Senate which will convene in the fall.

Also serving on the Summer legislative body will be all precinct and class senators enrolled for the third trimester.

Major programs for this summer will include the study of the judicial review plan which was presented to the Senate last spring, Student Body Vice President Joy Dickson explained. Also planned for this summer is the formation of a committee to study the idea of State Student Legislature.

'Being Earnest'

Theatre To Present Wilde Show

As its last production for the academic year, the University Theatre will present Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest" Wednesday through Sunday in Conrad Theatre.

Tickets for the performances will go on sale Monday for $.75 for students and children, and $1.50 for the general public. The Ticket Office is open from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. weekdays.

Curtain time for the evening performances Wednesday through Saturday will be 8:30 p.m. A matinee is scheduled for Sunday at 2:30 p.m. Fred Breckenridge, FSU graduate student in theatre, will direct the play.

The plot of the drama centers around two couples in love. Complications develop, however, because each woman believes the name of her beau is Earnest. In actuality, both men have only assumed the name of Earnest.

Breckenridge, who received his bachelor's degree from Alabama College, is currently working for his master of fine arts degree in directing. He expects to receive this degree in December.

Since coming to FSU, Breckenridge has performed in "Dr. Faustus" and "The White Widow." He also directed FSU's "Evening of One Acts" which was presented in March.

Other directing experience for Breckenridge includes a year spent as resident director for the St. Augustine Little Theatre. While there he directed "Inherit the Wind," "All My Sons," "Hedda Gabler," "Under the Yum Yum Tree," "Bus Stop" and "Arsenic and Old Lace."

During 1965 he directed "Everyman" at the FSU.

Both Breckenridge and his wife, Joy, will be working at the Asolo Theatre in Sarasota this summer. Mrs. Breckenridge serves as co-sume mistress for all University Theatre productions.

Casting for the play will include Gail Strickland and Margaret Kaler in the female lead roles of Gwendolyn and Cecily, respectively. Playing opposite them will be Bill Gammon, Algermon, and John Hoffman, Jack.

In supporting roles are Kathryn Fleming, Lady Bracknell; Kathryn Blomstrom, Miss Prism; David Martin, Rev. Chausable; Terry Rogers, Lane; Steve Klein, Merriman and Maureen O'Connell, Maud.

Circle 224, New Party, FSUPAC Endorse Bob High For Governor

Circle 224 and the FSU Political Action Committee today joined the New Party in endorsing Robert King High for governor of Florida.

Announcing Circle 224's unanimous endorsement, Jimmy Stevens, chairman of the group, said, "The main goal of Circle 224 has always been to pursue and shed light on truth. Robert King High has obviously made every effort to bring out into public discussion the issues in the race for governor. His concern for truth and integrity are the basis for this endorsement."

Stevens also announced that Florida's four other Circle 224s had endorsed High.

Political Action Committee chairman Paris Glendening noted that, besides the superior ideals of truth, the Committee felt it imperative to endorse High because of his concrete stands on education, taxes, conservation, road construction, and economy and honesty in government. Confirming New Party's earlier endorsement of High, Fred MacDonald, party co-chairman, said, "High's recent statements at Florida Atlantic University gave clear support to the principles espoused in the Student Bill of Rights which was so overwhelmingly endorsed by FSU's Student Body. It is High's concern with issues such as this, and his emphasis on academic freedom and stand on university independence that form the basis for New Party's enthusiastic endorsement," MacDonald concluded.

It was also announced that both the Political Action Committee and Circle 224 are endorsing Joe Boyd for the Florida Public Service Commission.

High Rally Planned

University students across the state will rally this afternoon to show their support for Robert King High for governor of Florida, said Mike Ruff.

Ruff, co-chairman of the FSU Students for High group, outlined plans for a rally at FSU today at 3:30 p.m. in the Leon-Lafayette Room, Union. Students supporting High at Seton, the U of F and the University of Miami will also gather at the same time, continued Ruff.

All groups plan to send Education programs to parents and friends throughout the state urging support for High in the May 24 Democratic primary run-off.

The FSU rally also plans to include a speaker from the local High headquarters. The gathering will last about an hour. Sponsor of the rally is the Students for High Committee at FSU.

Teacher Corps Making Recruits

The National Teacher Corps (NTC), created by the Higher Education Act of 1965, is now taking applications from college seniors, graduates and experienced teachers for teaching positions in poverty schools across the nation.

Applications for mailing applications are considered for the first training cycle which begins in June is August May 31. Applications may be obtained by coming by the "Flambeau" office, 320 Union.

NTC hopes to help alleviate the shortage of poverty which binds the nation's urban and rural schools.

The Corps wants to put specially-trained teachers into schools in the areas to give the children of poverty experience an interest in "classroom," explained Dave Ruff, who is co-ordinating the recruitment program at FSU.

The Corps plans to place 3,750 men and women in the Nation's rural schools next fall. Plans call for more than 10,000 NTC members to be in the field by 1969. Volunteers will serve for two years (see CORPS page 6)

THOUGHT AND SOUL

... album numbers will be featured in the "We Five" group concert Thursday at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. in the West Auditorium. Tickets for the performances, sponsored by the Student Entertainment Series, are now on sale at the Union Ticket Office for $1.50 per person. The group's recent hit recording of "I Woke Up This Morning, You Were On My Mind" has sold over one million copies.

A Guest Editorial

Coinciding with the "Flambeau's" editorial endorsement last Friday of Robert King High for governor was an endorsement of High by the U of F "Alligator."

In order to give our readers a better understanding of why student newspapers such as the "Flambeau" and the "Alligator" have decided to endorse Mayor High, we are reprinting, in its entirety, the "Alligator's" endorsement editorial.

The Florida Alligator EDITORIALS

for governor

Miami Mayor Robert King High has run a campaign oriented towards placing integrity in state government.

He has repeated his intention to provide better educational facilities for the state if elected governor.

Integrity and education are the issues of this campaign.

At a time when the educational needs of the state are doubling in less than 10 years, Florida must have in office a governor, and a legislature, that will not only support education, but will actively seek to improve it.

The voters of the state are interested in better education.

Not only is it necessary for Florida's youth as a matter of course. But the state must provide quality education if it is to continue its present growth by attracting industries which call for highly qualified -- through the best training a good educational system can provide -- personnel as resources for industry.

An incumbent's "hold-the-line" policy on educational expenditures will only allow the state to decline into a dark ages era when the state now:

- ranks 33rd nationwide in its student-teacher ratio;

- ranks 39th in its crowded classrooms;

- ranks 36th in its number of school dropouts;

- ranks 46th in its percentage of expenditures for higher education;

- ranks 41st in its per capita expenditures for education,

- and ranks far below the national average on teachers' salaries. An incumbent's contempt for the public and public opinion is blatantly obvious when:

- he openly admits his administration is run on a "spoils" system, with contracts and purchasing going to friends of the governor rather than on a competitive basis;

- he tells the press that "as governor, I don't have to account to you or anyone else;"

- he attempts to "ramrod" a $300-million bond issue down the throats of the voters which would cost the state $113-million in interest alone;

- he pressures the approval of a 25-year bond issue for the Sunshine Skyway refinancing on voters of two counties which both receive less than 45 per cent of state road funds collected in the two counties.

At a time when the state needs a new constitution, complete tax revision, more money for quality education, more roads on a limited budget, more orientation towards the urban needs of the state, plus numerous other reforms, at this time what type of governor does the state need?

We feel the type leadership offered by Robert King High is what the state needs.

His campaign contributions are indicative of the fact he is beholden to no special interest.

The strong support he has received from the voters of his home county is indicative of their satisfaction with his past efforts as Miami mayor.

His platform, and support from such respected state persons as Scott Kelly, Fred Karl, and Senator Ed Price -- among others -- is indicative of the respect he has gained in his campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor.

We endorse the candidacy of Mayor High for the Democratic nomination for governor of Florida.

Irate Reader Disagrees With Editor

To the Editor:

This article is a reply to the "Flambeau" editor's endorsement of Robert High. The editor put forth some statistics concerning higher education, amidst his editorializing, and the author of this article feels that the informed university community deserves further explanation, and that these facts should have been put into context. At the same time, this writer will present some facts as rebuttal in behalf of Governor Burns' educational program.

First, the statistics presented in relation to university building costs are almost meaningless as they do not allude to specific charts, footnotes, or sources. Such as, the cost per square foot for first rate university buildings at Purdue and Kansas State, Do these costs include amortization expenses? What type of building do these costs refer to? Does Purdue and Kansas State include amortization costs in their estimated building expenses or not? In other words, how can one make a near correct comparison with Florida's expenditures with the information given?

Then too, one can ask, what year did he take his figures on expenditures for higher education? It appears to have been a 1964 report, and this is prior to the first term of Governor Burns. Why did he not note that this was largely accomplished under the leadership of Governor Burns. High also included in this 1968 per cent increase that there was an overall 39 per cent increase in spending in the southern states; however, again this candidate did not mention that in this percentage increase Florida ranked third in the South in state expenditures on higher education.

In fact, in 1965, under Haydon Burns, a record 136,911,442 dollars in general revenue was provided for operation of the state university system, and this does not include another $48,224,786 for junior colleges. Add these two figures and then compare this total to other states and their expenditures for higher education in 1965. Of course, "some of the points mentioned were of High's more impressive points."

The article of May 13th also remarked that High promised to free the universities from "political meddling and interference" by making the Board of Regents autonomous, but this is "role hat" as the Governor may suggest in this area some time before campaigning began.

In the financial realm High has pledged himself to working for a system whereby the Legislature will "appropriate lump sums with local control in legislative auditing." Does not Mr. High believe that every tax dollar should be accounted for? Who should be responsible for these sums—the Budget Commission? Furthermore, some months ago, High remarked he wanted to do away with the Budget Commission itself, but he obviously did not know that the Budget Commission is another name for the Cabinet, among the fifteen other different names it has under the Florida Constitution. Would you believe he is informed? Again, one can see why the editor believes, in error, "that the present administration has a hold-the-line policy on educational spending," if he goes by the outdated data of Mr. High. This statement is so ridiculous that it does not deserve a reply.

Furthermore, the editor said that education is the number one issue—this writer thought the issue was "Integrity", or has that lost its value? It was also added in the article that after consideration (just after High left Tallahassee) of both candidates, platform, etc., the "Flambeau", in belief that it represented a general consensus of opinion on campus, endorsed High. Was a recent general consensus taken? If not, should a state supported

Rouault Display In U. Art Gallery

Currently on display in the University Art Gallery is an exhibition consisting of a series of etchings and aquatints. These are entitled "Miserere et Guerre" (misery and war) and are the work of 20th century French artist Georges Rouault. The prints are displayed in a maze of corners, dead ends and niches which were constructed by the placement of multi-colored panels within a small room.

This new environment, constructed for the prints by Curator Asher Derman and Jackson Smith, gives an expressive and religious depth to Rouault's work, said Derman. Displayed in this manner, a passive response to his work is almost impossible. Wherever one turns he is forced to look at Rouault's prints, and so one reacts in a way not possible in a more conventional exhibit, Derman explained.

"Rouault planned his series to communicate the misery and futility found in both humanity and war—his figures transmit a feeling of deep suffering and resignation," Derman continued.

A master craftsman, Rouault sometimes combined various printing methods on a single plate to achieve the effect he was seeking. The mood created by Rouault's work will be carried over to next month's show, which will feature work done by FSU art teachers, graduate students and selected undergraduates.

PRINTS

... by French artist Georges Rouault are now on display at the University Art Gallery, included in the group is "In These Dark Times of Boasting and Unbelieving Our Lady of the End of the Earth Holds Vigil".

Student Party Executives Support 10 For LC Seats

The campus-wide election next Tuesday will select fifteen members for Summer Senate.

This body comprises the legislative branch of our Student Government for the third trimester. The problems of the third trimester are different from the rest of the year, therefore it is especially important that competent representatives be chosen.

Because we share their belief in good government based on the principles of integrity and sound representation, we urge the student body to support these students for Summer Legislative Council:

Christy Walker
Anne Bonford
Suzanne Deshazo
Anne Lang
Caroline Poole
Hines Boyd
Rick Hamilton
Terry Hamilton
Don Norris
Ken Thigpen

As this group consists of graduate students, married students, Greeks and Independents living both on and off campus, every phase of campus life would be represented by the people serving in Summer Senate. Also included in this group are those with past experience in Student Government, such as Hines Boyd, past chief justice of Honor Court, and Suzanne Deshazo, a former Freshman Class Senator.

We hope that you will consider these people Tuesday when you vote for your summer senators.

school paper support any candidate for any office?

It may be suggested that the editor walk out of his office next time and ask a few persons in the student government offices across the hall. He may be surprised.

As it will be impossible to answer any rebuttal to this article since the election is Tuesday, another challenge is offered, and that is for the concerned reader to consult recent facts relating to the Burns administration's role in education and its accomplishments before forming an opinion.

One might say that education has no enemies in Florida and one of the greatest supporters of education is Governor Burns. This was exemplified in the Governor's Inaugural Address, by his Conference on Education, and by the most extensive programs on education ever undertaken by any executive in the history of this state. The challenge is Yours, Walt Martindale

ALLIGATOR HARBOR

... 10 miles to the west of Turkey Point, is also included in plans for FSU's future expansion. After the development of the 77 acres at Turkey Point as a marine laboratory, the Alligator Harbor area will be developed for other University uses. Presently the 23 acres of land lie so low that they are flooded during storm periods, and boats of no more than four foot draft can navigate the bay.

From NSF Grants

Turkey Point Improvement Set

A grant of $349,900 to FSU by the National Science Foundation (NSF) for improvement of a marine laboratory at Turkey Point was announced today.

President John E. Champion told the Board of Regents, meeting in Tallahassee, that FSU's Oceanographic Institute has been informed that paper work is also being done on a $400,000 grant for air-sea interaction research at FSU.

Champion's announcement followed a recent announcement by Board of Regents Chairman Chester Ferguson. Ferguson reported that a 10-year program in oceanography for the university system has been approved in principle by the Board. Under this program FSU would continue to have exclusive authority, within the university system, for awarding the PhD degree in Oceanography.

Oceanographic Institute Director Dr. Carl H. Oppenheimer said the NSF grant will be used in developing a small harbor and research laboratory. The laboratory will be located at a Gulf site of 77 acres at Turkey Point, about 45 miles south of Tallahassee.

He said $190,000 in State funds have been spent there dredging a 12-foot-deep boat basin and a three-mile channel to deep water. The federal funds will permit the University to bulkhead the basin, build a laboratory of 8500 square feet, a smaller service laboratory and a pier.

Oppenheimer said the $400,000 expected from another agency would be used by Michael Garstang of the Institute to develop an experimental system for the study of air-sea interaction. Oppenheimer added that part of this work would be done out of Turkey Point.

The grant would enable the Oceanographic Institute to make a study of the exchange of heat between the tropical oceans and atmosphere under changing conditions of the water surface and atmosphere.

Under a plan outlined by Garstang, continuous measurements of the flux of energy between the ocean and atmosphere would be made over a fixed time through devices on a small island, tethered ocean buoys and a research vessel.

During the first of three years of the research, instrumentation would be developed. During the second year, field trials would be made in the Gulf.

Four months of the third year would be spent on intensive application of the method in the tropical Atlantic. Analysis of data would occupy the remainder of the third year.

years, on invitation of the local agencies, after pre-service university training in the sociology of poverty and the teaching of the disadvantaged.

During this two year period, NTC men and women will earn salaries based on local rates. Their training costs will be paid by the federal government, and they will receive a stipend during pre-service training. Volunteers are also granted readjustment allowances at the end of their service. Travel and relocation expenses will be furnished.

Roughly one-fourth of the Corps members will be career teachers with a minimum of five years general teaching experience or five years teaching in disadvantaged schools. Some will serve alone, most will be leaders of teacher teams of inexperienced teacher interns.

"Our country is blessed with young men and women who desire to do those less fortunate than themselves. In the ranks of experienced teachers there are others who will devote part of their lives to children in most critical need," said President Lyndon B. Johnson of the Corps. "The Teacher Corps offers a practical means of uniting the idealism and wisdom of each — young graduates and accomplished teachers — thus enriching the lives of coming generations," Johnson concluded.

Swanson New Placement Head

James R. Swanson has been named director of placement at FSU, it was announced today.

Swanson replaces Dr. William Malloy, who has been named an assistant dean in FSU's School of Education. The new director of placement is a native of Pierson, Fla., and graduated from the high school there in 1951. He received his BS and MED degrees from the U of F and is a doctoral candidate in educational research and testing at FSU.

Swanson taught school at Melbourne High School in Melbourne and at Parkway Junior High School in Titusville. From 1961 to 1963 he was assistant university examiner at the U of F.

From 1963 to 1965 he was a graduate assistant at FSU, and in 1965 he was named assistant director of university placement. He is married and has three children.

The university placement office aids students in the procurement of jobs and employers in finding employees.

War Film Presented

"The Bridge on the River Kwai" and the continuing serial "King of the Rocket Men" will be presented by the Campus Movie Series tonight and tomorrow night in Westcott Auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

Based on the novel by Pierre Boulle, it is a film of high adventure with profound implications for men involved with the meaningless destruction of war.

Starring Alec Guinness, Jack Hawkins and Sessue Hayakawa, the movie has won the New York Film Critics Best Picture of the Year, National Board of Review, Seven Academy and 27 international awards.

Mrs. Mary Jo Weale, instructor in housing and interior design at FSU, is the author of a new textbook, "Rendering Techniques for Interior Designers."

Written because there was no available text on the subject, the 142-page privately published book is designed for use by college undergraduates and graduate students. It already is being used in classes at FSU and the University of Iowa.

Prior to joining the FSU faculty in September of 1965, Mrs. Weale worked as a commercial artist with the Kentucky Dept. of Mental Health. She holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Kentucky and the master's degree from FSU, where she is continuing her work toward the doctoral degree.

SEMINOLE SCORECARD

by HANK SCHOMBER
Flambeau Sports Editor

The end to a long, regular season of play is drawing near for FSU's hard-hitting baseballers, but the last leg is certainly not going to be a down hill slide. The Tribe is going to need all the support the student body can offer.

Tonight and tomorrow the Seminoles meet arch-rival U of F in a three game series that could become the most important games of the year.

At the season's start the sluggers were rated by many as the team to beat for this year's national championships, and thus far they have proven the selectors correct.

In the last college baseball poll FSU trailed front running Southern California by only three points. The feeling is that a sweep of the final Seminole games would put FSU into the top spot.

This knowledge certainly is no secret, and the Gators, more than any other team in the country, would like to keep the Tribe from capturing the national championship.

On the other hand, there is probably no team the Seminoles would rather win the title at the expense of than the U of F.

Another incentive for the Tribe is the fact that the Gators are the only team on this year's schedule to hold a life-time edge over FSU, winning 18 of 32 contests. A sweep of the U of F series would put the Seminoles within a single victory of evening the record.

Once the Gators are passed by, FSU will be facing a rugged Clemson team. A hoped-for bid to the NCAA District VIII finals would then take them to Gastonia, N.C., and a shot at a berth in the College World Series.

The season is just beginning.

FSU Seeks Gator Skins Tonight

by FRANK N. STEIN
Asst. Sports Editor

FSU's second ranked baseball team opens a three game series with the U of F tonight at 7:30 p.m. in Centennial Field. The winner of the series will receive the West St. Petersburg Exchange Club Scholarship, given annually to the school that wins the most varsity sports events.

The U of F series is part of a season-ending home stand that will have the Tribe meeting Clemson University next week.

FSU split a pair of games with the Gators two weeks ago. The Tribe won the first game 10-4, but dropped a rain-shortened six-inning contest 1-0 the next day.

The Seminoles go into the game sporting a .31-10 mark and a team batting average of .312.

Only four of the Tribe's 10 losses have been by more than one run. Noticeably missing from the FSU line-up will be season-long third baseman Maury Hopkins, who came up with a broken hand when a base-runner spiked him last week in Jacksonville.

Hopkins at .292 was the only Seminole regular batting below .300, but he had six home runs and 10 doubles to his credit.

Replacing him at third will probably be senior infielder Gary Lawrence. Last year Lawrence was the regular third sacker and hit .318.

He does not have Hopkins' power, however, and his average has slipped to .233 in his limited appearances this season.

Head Coach Fred Harfield has indicated he may also try using Mike Martin at third and fill Martin's vacated centerfield spot with Bob Woolley or Roy Mewbourne.

Martin is leading the Seminole batsmen with a .379 batting average, but he is being challenged by fellow outfielder Jim Lytle, who is now hitting the ball at a .373 clip.

Following Lytle is shortstop Gary Sprague who has built his average to .344 after a slow start earlier this season. Dick Fernandez trails Sprague with a .321 average.

Tom Thomas and Randy Brown are each slapping the ball at a .311 clip, and Pete Sarron is just a notch behind at .310, rounding out the Tribe's "300 Club."

Not to be overshadowed by the Seminole bats, FSU's pitchers have been turning in some commendable efforts.

Leading the way is sophomore left-hander Wayne Vincent, who is garnering a 9-1 won-loss mark, and an impressive 1.37 earned-run-average. Also, Vincent has closed to within .2 strike-outs of a long standing FSU record in that department.

Eddie Howell follows Vincent with a 5-2 record and a 1.48 ERA. Marty Brooks (3-0 and a 2.43 ERA) and Marv Stringfellow (5-4, 2.59 ERA) round out the Tribe's starting rotation of three left-handers.

Following tomorrow's 1 p.m. doubleheader, FSU will wind up its schedule with a three game series against Clemson next week.

The Seminoles tackle the Tigers at 3 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in their last scheduled games.

SWINGING A BIG BAT

... for the Seminoles this season is Mike Martin. The senior outfielder, with a .379 average, is the leading FSU hitter. Martin has four doubles, four triples and four home runs to his credit. In addition, strikeouts are the least among Tribe Regulars.

26 Entrants For Tennis Tourney

The all-campus Intramural Tennis Tournament will begin tomorrow morning at 9 a.m. All men's and women's entrants are to report to the Women's Gym courts at that time.

Competition will consist of men's singles, women's singles and mixed doubles. Play will not be held for men's and women's doubles.

The pairings for men's and women's play are listed below. Mixed doubles pairings will be arranged tomorrow, according to tourney director Russ Langstroth. "All male-female duos can play tomorrow afternoon without having signed up previously," director Langstroth added.

All matches that precede the semifinals will consist of one 10-game pro set.

Men's 9 a.m. pairings are as follows: Nyles Hollander vs. Norman Braswell, Tom Clark vs. Donald Muse, Ken Hey vs. Paul Darst, Thomas Warren vs. Ed Rymer, Jim Hunter vs. Charles Apple, Bill Bryant vs. Joe Pepper, Fieger vs. Arthur Carson and Philip Wight vs. Charles Pringle.

Other entrants are Harrison, Dees, and P.R. Hooper.

Tapless Bowling

The University Union will sponsor a "No tap-No split" Bowling Tournament at Crenshaw Lanes May 29, at 2 p.m.

Any bowler, amateur or professional, will have an equal opportunity to enter and win.

For scoring purposes, nine pins knocked down with the first ball will constitute a strike, and all splits will count as spares.

Interested persons may sign up any time through May 28 in Crenshaw Lanes.

The only charge will be an entry fee of $1.00, which will cover the cost of three games and shoe rental.

GARY LAWRENCE

Duffers Play Set For Next Month

Student golfers and duffers alike will have an opportunity to show their merit as the FSU Intramural Dept. sponsors a 36-hole stroke-play golf tournament. The event will be held June 1 and 2 at the FSU Golf Course.

During the first day, each contestant will play an 18 hole qualifying round. This round will be the basis of dividing the golfers into flights according to their individual level of ability.

The flights will play together for the second round, June 2.

First and second place prizes of six golf balls and three golf balls will be awarded in each flight. The prizes will be awarded on the basis of the entire two day, or 36 hole, total score.

The tourney will be open only to FSU students, and the only cost will be a $75 greenfee per day.

The deadline for entering the contest is Tuesday, May 31. Students desiring to sign up should contact Mr. Keith Pitchford 224-9935 or the intramural office at 2640.

WE FIVE CANCELS

...their scheduled performances tomorrow evening in Westcott Auditorium due to the collapse of their lead vocalist, Bev Elvins, at the University of New Mexico Sunday evening. Tickets may be refunded at the Ticket Office.

We Five Program Cancellor Star Collapses At UNM

Due to the collapse of the lead female vocalist of the We Five recording group their concerts scheduled for tomorrow evening have been cancelled, announced Pushy Tunniff, chairman of the Student Entertainment Series Committee.

Refunds for tickets already purchased for either of the planned performances may be obtained at the Union Ticket Office. In order to receive a refund, the ticket which was purchased must be presented. The Ticket Office is open weekdays from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

The appearance of the comedian George McKelvey, which was scheduled with that of the group, has also been cancelled due to the other cancellation.

Beverly Elvins, lead singer of the We Five, collapsed after a show at the University of New Mexico and is now in an Albuquerque hospital undergoing tests, said Tunniff.

"Although the scheduled performances have been cancelled, they have not cancelled their contract. We hope to transfer their contract shows to some mutually agreeable date in the fall," Tunniff explained.

"We are extremely sorry that the performances have been cancelled. Efforts will be made to secure a group to perform sometime during the summer, however," Tunniff concluded.

Lessons Offered U. Union Pool

The Union pool will now open at 1 p.m. on Sundays rather than 10 a.m. on Saturdays, said Dr. Herb Reinhard, today. The new opening time will remain in effect for the balance of the summer trimester. Swimming lessons will also be held at the pool again this summer, Reinhard said. Lessons will be held June 27 through July 29 to a group of students, faculty, and members of the Alumni Association.

The program will include lessons for beginners, intermediates and advanced swimmers. Registration for the classes will be June 21 in the lounge of the Union. All groups will be limited in enrollment, and admission will be on a first-come, first-served basis.

Intermediates and advanced swimmers will have all lessons at the pool, while beginner's lessons will start at the Reservation. The Reservation is open to general swimming Tuesday through Saturday from 1 p.m. till 6 p.m., with a schedule followed on Sundays. On Saturdays the Reservation is open to swimming from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m., Reinhard continued.

Guarded life guards are on duty at the Reservation during these times. A $25 per person charge is made for swimming, with children under six years of age admitted free. There is no admission charge for the picnic and recreation area. A new boat ramp and parking lot are being constructed for use by students, faculty, staff and faculty. The Reservation is the lake recreation facility of the University Union and is operated under the use of any state tax money, concluded Reinhard.

Objection Discussed

Constitutional Objection to Speculation will be the topic for a panel discussion tomorrow evening 7 p.m. in the Unionian Church, 1000 Woodland Drive. The program, which is sponsored by the American Civil Liberties Union, is free and open to the public. Questions and answer period will follow the panel discussion.

'Earnest' Premiers Tonight In Conradi

Tickets are now on sale at the Union Ticket Office for the University Theatre Production of Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest," which will be presented today through Sunday in Conradi Theatre. Curtain time for the evening performances tonight through Saturday is 8:30 p.m. A 2:30 p.m. matinee is also scheduled for Sunday. Tickets are $7.50 for students and $15.00 for the general public.

The play was first produced in 1895 at the St. James Theatre in London. The FSU production, directed by Fred Breckenridge said, will emphasize comedy of character as well as that of dialog and action. Produced last summer by the Asolo Theatre Festival in Sarasota, the play was one of the most successful in the repertory, said Breckenridge. It was seen by some 5,000 people. Featured in the play will be John Hoffman as Jack, Bill Gammon as Algernon, Gail Strickland as Gwendolen, Margaret Kaler as Cecily and Kathy Fleming as Lady Bracknell. Others in the cast include David Martin, Rev. Chausible; Kathryn Bloomstrom, Miss Prism; Jerry Rogers, Lane; Maureen O'Connell, Maid and Steve Kleid, Merriman.

Breckenridge, who directs the play, is currently working on his master's of fine arts degree in directing. He received his bachelor's degree from Alabama College.

Miss Fowler, a member of the Woodwind Trio since it was organized in 1962, joined the FSU faculty in 1955. She formerly taught at Ohio State.

Schmidt, who joined the FSU faculty in 1949, has played with the Woodwind Trio for four years.

Dr. John Carey Speaker Today

Dean of Students, Dr. John Carey, will speak on "Student Affairs at FSU" today at 4 p.m. in the Union Browning Lounge as the first speaker in a Wednesday afternoon forum series to be sponsored by the Union Forum Committee.

Carey will speak for approximately 25 minutes, and a 15 minute discussion period will follow. The forum is free and open to the public. Coffee will be served.

Lecture sessions will be Carey's first open personal appearance in which FSU students, faculty, and staff may hear about and discuss the affairs of students, said Gary Wolfe, summer chairman of the Forum Committee.

Other lectures planned for the series will include Captain Roger Collier speaking on "Automobile Safety in Recent News," "The Role of Buddhism in Vietnam Political Affairs" by Dr. Charles Wellborn, and "Abortion Laws in the State of Florida" will be discussed by Dr. Vernon Fox.

"The LSD Drug, Its Background and Uses and Abuses" will be the subject of a lecture by Dr. Michael Greenberg July 13. Dr. Edwin Hertz will speak on "Recent Trends in Sex Behavior on College Campuses" July 20.

Concluding the series, July 27, will be a lecture on "The State of Affairs in Florida."

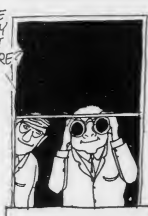

Chandler On 'Forum'

Hendrix Chandler, corporate secretary for the Board of Regents, will be the guest speaker tomorrow evening in the "Flambeau Forum" at 10 p.m. on WTAL (1450).

Discussion will center around the relationship of the University to state politics, and how different boards and bodies controlling education in Florida function, said Dave Nelson, program moderator.

Questions may be phoned in to the program anytime during the show's 30 minutes on the air. As many questions as possible will be used. The phone number for the station is 222-1270.

Brown Suggests 'Virgin's' Parable

To the Editor:

With reference to the continuing essays in the Flambeau advocating student access to faculty senate meetings at FSU:

1) I recommend Dorothy Parker's verse essay on the porcupine: "Parable for a Certain Virgin."

2) Faculty members are frequently reminded that they have the privilege of attending senate meetings. Rarely does the senate need to seek a larger hall because of the rush of nonsenate faculty to avail themselves of this privilege.

For one thing, the members of the senate have considerable experience. In matters the senate is asked to act on, and their judgment and probity are trusted by those their actions affect. For another, there is apt to be an inverse correlation between the number of warm bodies present and the efficiency of legislative despatch.

Thirdly, faculty members have much of value to do with their time and nervous energy, and most of them do not want to undertake added administrative responsibilities unless they are elected or appointed to serve the university in this manner. The senate meeting is a

is sought for its entertainment value.

3) I wonder often if some of us without enough to do and with an overdose of self-righteousness and an underdose of awareness of need

much concerned about securing our "rights" and not enough concerned about making the most of the opportunities in which we bask. Students and faculty at FSU have too easily available fantastic chances to enjoy

ions which would seem unbelievable to the most favored people of another time or another country.

Head-counting at many of the

formances, and exhibits of stu-

ing failure of many, many people to take advantage of the rights and opportunities they have.

If, to a few of us, FSU represents at best an exercise field in experience in politics, for the mass population of people to acquire the "rights", those few of us would

Brown Disagrees With 'Flambeau' Essays

 The experience might enlighten to which ones are real and are deluding images in the statements in the editorial

intellectual, cultural, and human.
 The other suggests that the Administration (using the editorial's capiwith the "hostile politician" bent on repression and feudal subjection of the faculty and students.

 This is about as diametrically op-

 I think the university administra-

About Those Grape Pickers

To the Editor:

Students on your campus are certainly aware of the important breakthroughs that recently have been made in the Delano, California, grape pickers' strike. The 300-mile 25-day pilgrimage from Delano to Sacramento ended on Easter Sunday in a tremendous outpouring of 10,000 concerned persons, including large numbers of college students.

The last dozen miles of this wearying march were made much easier and more joyful by the announcement that Schenley Industries, the second-largest grower in the Delano area, had offered to recognize the National Farm Workers Association and to sit down with them as equals for the purpose of collective bargaining. A few days after Easter this breakthrough was reinforced by similar offers from two smaller growers.
 Important though these developments certainly are, it would be a mistake to assume that they signal the end of the farm worker's struggle. Actually, even in Delano itself we are witnessing only a beginning; no other growers have broken the line, and, if anything, their position seems more adamant than ever.

Moreover, unless necessary national legislation is soon passed, the next few years will see dozens and perhaps hundreds of other Delano's in California and in other parts of the nation. It is highly unlikely that these other Delano's will be as restrained and peaceable. In fact, some of these struggles will almost certainly lead to needless violence and bloodshed.

The only thing which has any chance of preventing such eruptions, while permitting farm workers to achieve for themselves an adequate and honorable living, would be the passage of legislation to protect the workers' right to organize and to enforce the corresponding duty of the employers to recognize and bargain collectively with them. As of now, farm workers are excluded from such protection of the law.

In this session of Congress, however, bills will soon be considered to bring farm workers under the National Labor Relations Act and thus provide them with both the necessary legal protection and the well-established mechanisms for collective bargaining. Legislative experts tell us that there is a chance

Usually 17 is the time peach fuzz turns into hard bristle. Then you've got trouble, unless you have a shaver that can grow up with you. Like the new REMINGTON® 200 Selectro Shaver with the dial. Alias no-drag. We gave it an alias because you can shift all over your face and adjust to your particular beard. Any variety from fuzz to scrub brush. Turn the dial to 1st. You can take off uphill on your neck. No drag. In 2nd you can go through a couple of days' growth. No pull. In 3rd you can take on anything without leaving skid marks. Shift to 4th and you're in and out of corners. You drift over tender spots like your upper lip. 5th is the finishing line. Straight sideburns. In 6th you clean out the whiskers. The Selectro Shaver is up there in the Ferrari class, but we've managed to make it cost less than a lot of regular shavers. We're not out to take you for a ride. to pass such a law this year. How good a chance? That depends almost entirely on how much citizen demand there is for it.

This is where you can join the struggle. Could we suggest that those who have been stirred by the valiant struggle—who believe that the time has at last come when the nation must face up to the demand of justice for farm workers—right now let their Congressmen and Senators know, by letter, telegram and personal visit, that they insist that this legislation be passed.

Letters may be less glamorous than demonstrations, picket lines or boycotts (though at times these are necessary and useful too) but from experience we know how effective letters can be in securing legislation.

Could we ask that you write your letter now?

Tribe Blanks Gators

and could break the record in his next ball game.

The Tribe's only score in Friday's contest came in the fifth inning. Second baseman Dick Fernandez started things off with a double. After he had taken a sizable lead off second base, he stole third as Gator catcher Ed Gross threw in the dirt at second, on a pick-off attempt.

Seminole third baseman Gary Lawrence then lofted a sacrifice fly to deep center field, scoring Fernandez with the only run of the game. Vincent scattered three Gator hits while holding the U of F team scoreless through nine innings.

Vincent needs only two more wins to tie with Al Beccarello for the most wins in a single season as a Seminole.

FSU scored early in the first game Saturday afternoon at Seminole Field to give pitcher Eddie Howell his sixth win of the season against two setbacks.

Seminole shortstop Gary Sprague singled to open the Tribe's half of the first inning.

the season 400 feet over the left-center field fence to give FSU a 2-0 lead.

In the top of the fifth inning the Gators posed their first threat of the game as Bill Blomgren reached first when Pete Sarron bobbled his tap to first.

After U of F catcher Jack Kenworthy gained first on a fielder's choice, Gator pitcher Ray Rollyson punched a double to left, moving Kenworthy to third.

Howell then got Bruce Moore to pop up to Sarron in foul territory. The next Gator batter, shortstop Don Pendy, drove one of Howell's pitches to deep right field where Lytle caught it up against the fence for the third out to end the U of F threat.

Howell led off the Seminole fifth with a sharp single between first and second base and went to second on Sprague's single.

Sarron followed with a soft roller to first, which the Gators tried to turn into an inning ending double play.

First baseman Tom Shannon fielded the ball and threw to Pendley covering second to force Thomas. Pendley's hurried return throw to catch Sarron went astray, however, and Lytle, who had stopped at third, trotted home with the Seminoles' fourth run.

In Saturday's second game the Seminoles struck for single runs in the second and fourth frames before the rains came.

Thomas reached first safely on an error by Moore, and when Skip Lujack bobbled Sarron's single to left, Thomas raced to third. Sarron tried to go to second on the play, but was thrown out.

Gary Lawrence followed with a run producing single to center, and when the ball got by center fielder Danny Orr, Lawrence went all the way to third.

Ed Yarnell then walked to put two runners on with only one out. Marv Stringfellow ground into a force play at second and Sprague fouled out to end the inning, however.

In the fourth inning the Seminoles picked up their second run when Yarnell, playing for injured Randy Brown, sent the ball over the scoreboard in right for his first home run of the year.

BIG STRETCH

... by Gator first baseman Tommy Shannon was not enough to win the Seminoles' Jim Lytle on an attempted double play in the fifth inning of Saturday's game with the Gators. Lytle scored momentum as the Tribe won 4-0.

Winning Candidates Fill 15 Summer Senate Positions

Deputy Commissioner of Elections Elbert Lambert today announced the names of the 15 winning candidates in Tuesday's campus-wide election for Summer Senate.

There were 686 ballots cast in the election which selected the candidates to fill the seats on the summer Legislative Council. A total of 5,402 votes decided this specific race. The University Party candidates elected to Senate seats are: Beverly Baker, Sandra Lee Beebe, David Ford, Ed Rymner, Mel Smith and Ken Thiesen.

Winning candidates belonging to the Student Party are: Anne Bomford, Hines Boyd, Suzanne Deshazo, Rick Hamilton, Anne Lang, Terry Mitchel, Don Norris, Caroline Poole.

The new senators will take part in enacting legislation which will apply to the third trimester only. Also they may propose legislation and make recommendations to the 19th Student Senate which will convene in September.

Student Body Vice President J. Dickinson, who will preside over the legislative body, said that one of the major programs this summer will be the study of the judicial review plan which was presented to Senate last session.

There also are plans for a special committee to study the ideas of a State Student Legislature, Miss Dickinson added.

Fred Smoot To Entertain In Rathskeller Next Week

The Rathskeller will take on a night club air Monday evening when rising new comedian personality, Fred Smoot, will arrive to present two evening shows nightly through June 4, Rae Snow, chairman of the Rathskeller Committee announced today.

Under the joint sponsorship of the Student Entertainment Series and the Rathskeller Committee, Smoot will present shows at 8:30 p.m. and 1 p.m., each evening. There will be a $.25 per person cover charge. Dress will be casual, such as one might find at coffee houses, said Miss Snow.

Smoot, of the TV Series "Wackles Ship in the Army," has made guest appearances on "Hullabaloo," "The Steve Allen Show," the "Les Crane Show," "Talent Scouts," "On Broadway ToNite" and with the New Christy Minstrels. He is currently slated to appear in the new TV series "Combo 44."

Night club bookings for Smoot have included the Hungry I in San Francisco and the Chateau in Cleveland among many others.

"A bright new comic with plenty of potential...the comedy find of the season," say critics who have caught Smoot's act at the Interlude in Los Angeles and The Cellar Door in Washington, D.C.

Conducting Symposium Concert Set Tonight In Opperman Hall

Seven of the 14 conductors attending the Third Annual Conducting Symposium at FSU will share their conducting assignments when the University Symphony Orchestra performs in Opperman Music Hall tonight at 8:15 p.m.

There will be no admission charge and the program is open to public. Featured will be a piano solo by Bonnie Bromberg. She will play the first movement from the Beethoven Concerto No. 3 for Piano and Orchestra.

The conducting Symposium will be under the direction of Richard Burgin, professor at FSU and associate conductor of the Boston Symphony, assisted by Robert Sedore, conductor of the University Symphony. Symposium participants include Walter A. Bablak, assistant conductor of the National Ballet Guild of Canada and Martin I. Bellar, conductor of the Charlotte Sympho-

Also taking part in the symposium are D. C. Rhoden, minister of music at the First Baptist Church, Milledgeville, Georgia; Louis F. Simon, conductor of the Bronx Community and College Symphony; Harold L. Weller, conductor of the Hamilton Symphony Orchestra, and Raphael B. Kianovsky, conductor of

- the Milwaukee Jewish Community Center.

Pat H. Chaffin Jr., teacher of strings at Xavier University; Paul Timan, conductor of Orchestra-Opera Company; Carlos Moser, conductor of Knox-Galesburg Symphony and Viktors Ziedonis, conductor of Indianapolis Symphonietta will attend the Symposium.

Others are Michael Gattozzi of University of Alabama faculty, member of Cezek String Quartet; Burton Dines, assistant professor at Miami-Dade Jr. College; and Charles Ausbacher, assistant conductor of the Kingsport Symphony.

Dance At Pool Tomorrow Night

The Union Dance Committee will sponsor a pool dance tomorrow evening from 9 p.m. to 12 p.m. at the Union pool. Admission will be $.35 per person or $.50 per couple. Entertainment for the dance will be provided by "The Group and Julie." Four Go-Go-girls will also be present. In the event of rain, the dance will be moved to the Rathskeller.

"This type of pool-side dance is unique to FSU. It is typical of the variety of dances presented at FSU throughout the year, which range from the formal President's Ball to Rathskeller and pool dances," said Jerry Miller, chairman of the dance committee.

Miller continued, "Membership for the dance committee is open to all. Further information can be obtained in room 315, Union."

SUMMER SENATORS

The fifteen new senators (standing) were elected by a campus-wide ballot Tuesday.

Staff Meets Today

There will be a meeting of all "Flambeau" staff members today at 3 p.m. in room 326, Union. Dean of students Dr. John Carey will speak. It is imperative that all staff members attend, said "Flambeau" Editor, Dave Nelsen.

Flambeau Forum

Let Us Begin

"Let this election be a new beginning for those of us who live in Florida. Let us begin to make our schools and universities the finest in the country."

"Let us begin to be known across this Nation as the State of fair taxes."

"Let us attract more new business and new industry because Florida is a better place to live."

"Let us begin to honor integrity in all our public enterprises, in our politics."

So said Democratic nominee for Governor of Florida, Robert King High. He made the statement Tuesday evening, after it was apparent he would win the nomination.

Barring any upset in the November election by Republican gubernatorial candidate Claude Kirk, Bob High will have the opportunity to lead the State of Florida into a new era of growth and prosperity.

Tuesday's election shows that the people of Florida are ready for a change. They are tired of "bossism," "cronyism" and the other pestilences that have plagued Southern politics for almost 100 years.

They do NOT want to follow the lead of Alabama. The people want to get away from demagoguery and racism.

Most of all, the people of Florida want better education. For it is education that is the key to the growth and prosperity of a state. If a state is to grow and progress, it must have well-trained future leaders.

High has promised continued and significant efforts at improving Florida education.

In higher education he has promised to rid the universities of political interference. He has promised more money through sounder tax structure. He will lower university construction and operating costs through strict competitive bidding.

High has promised a lot. Now the question arises, can he do it?

Our answer is YES. We feel that if High is elected in November, the following four years will show that Florida is well on the way to being one of the more prosperous and progressive states in the Nation.

Rejoice Floridians, for a new era has begun.

GIBB'S FRENCH SHOPPE

Saturday: from 3 to 5

To the Editor:

Since the topic of LSD, marijuana and other "psychedelic" drugs is becoming more timely, interesting and important, you might find the enclosed open letter provocative and informative for your readers:

The use of drugs—from marijuana and amphetamines to LSD, DMT and other "psychedelic" or "consciousness-expanding" drugs can provide experiences so impressive and profound that more and more people are looking to them as the most immediate and effective way to deepen personal insight and expand awareness.

These experiences are impressive is a well-established fact with us; we have actively followed drug research from its earliest roots and are thoroughly familiar with the enchantments of almost every facet of psychedelic indulgence. Searching for lasting positive values, however, we concluded that drugs constitute only a subtle escape from the conscious effort that eventually must be made.

Although drug enthusiasts frequently turn to Eastern philosophers and spiritual teachings for metaphors to describe and justify their psychedelic experiences, no authentic teachings or guides have ever sanctioned the use of drugs in the quest of increased awareness and enlightenment.

Here the statements of Avatar Meher Baba are pertinent. Baba is a non-sectarian spiritual Master—living now in India—who is acknowledged East and West as the authority on higher states of consciousness. (For one, U.S. psychedelic spokesman Dr. Richard Alpert recognizes Baba's mastery in this field.)

When consulted about psychedelics, Baba replied: "The experiences which drugs induce are as far removed from Reality as is a mirage from water. No matter how much you pursue the mirage you will never quench your thirst, and the search for Truth through drugs must end in disillusionment."

"Many people in India smoke hashish and gunja—they see colors, forms and lights and it makes them flared. But this elation is only temporary. It gives only experience of illusion, and serves to take one farther away from reality."

"The feeling of having had a glimpse of higher states of consciousness may only lure one into a false security. Although LSD is not a physically addicting drug, one can become attached to the experiences arising from its use, and one gets tempted to use it in increased doses, again and again, in the hope of deeper and deeper experiences. But this can only lead to madness."

Our experience corroborates Baba's statement: drugs of any kind inevitably become a blind alley for self-fulfillment. To rely on external means is to ignore one's inherent capacity to realize his own greatest potential.

Grant Awarded For Law Study

The new College of Law at FSU and the FSU Foundation announced today the award to Robert Dale Bickel of the first of a series of law scholarships.

The $300 scholarship was provided by the Tallahassee Bar Association. The FSU Foundation has a scholarship program under way for the new College of Law.

Bickel is a graduate of St. Petersburg Junior College and USF, and will enter FSU's charter class with some 75 to 100 other freshman law students in September.

Dean Mason Ladd of the College of Law said: "We have granted Mr. Bickel this scholarship on the basis of his good work in his prelegal education, and we are very happy that he is going to be with us in the College of Law."

NSF Grant Provides FSU Fastest Computer System

Installation of Florida's fastest computer system is scheduled to get underway this summer at FSU's Computing Center.

Mathematics Prof. E. P. Miles Jr., director of the Computing Center, said the Control Data 6400 computer is capable of making an average of 10 million computations per second. The computer is coming off production lines for the first time and FSU will be the first university in the Southeast to have the new machine.

The new computer at FSU is made possible through a $400,000 grant from the National Science Foundation (NSF) and an increased level of state support. The NSF grant is the largest yet made to a university in the Southeast for support of a computing center.

The Control Data 6400 will be considerably faster than any computer now installed in Florida, including those operating in the space and missile program of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Miles said.

During 1967 the system will be augmented to service remote consoles on a compatible time sharing basis. Another feature of the new system will be an electronic plotter which will enable researchers to turn computer results into visual materials such as graphs.

The University Computing Center is now operating IBM 709 and 1401 computers which were also made possible through NSF grants.

The use of the University's Computing Center has doubled every eight months during the past four years. For the past year, the existing computers have been working full time but cannot keep up with the demands of University personnel, Dr. Miles pointed out.

University researchers are carrying out computer related projects in a wide variety of fields ranging from complex calculations in the sciences to a concordance of the dramatic works of Eugene O'Neill for the English department.

In approving the grant, the NSF panel noted strong programs of computer related research in nuclear science, physics, chemistry, meteorology, mathematics, statistics, the social sciences, library science, engineering science, educational research and business management.

Hundreds of FSU students each get experience in computer programming or utilization through regular classroom assignments.

service as students assistants in the Center or by conducting related research projects. They also conduct research for their own thesis or dissertation topics.

Miles noted that computers have assumed an important role as a research tool in many academic fields.

Four thousand books donated by FSU students are on their way to American troops in South Vietnam by way of a Navy airplane and the Attack Carrier Oriskany.

The books, weighing 1,035 pounds, were loaded Tuesday on a Navy Neptune Patrol craft on a training flight to San Diego. The books are to be placed aboard the Carrier Oriskany before it leaves the California port this week bound for Vietnam.

The books were gathered by the students several months ago as a show of support for the American fighting men in Vietnam. A goal of 1,000 books was set, but 4,000 were contributed.

The Neptune patrol plane which picked up the books was based at Jacksonville as part of a Navy Reserve unit.

The students had received letters from servicemen noting the lack of recreation in Vietnam. The troops said that reading was one of the major forms of recreation, but the supply of reading material was limited. The servicemen noted that due to the damp climate, available books lasted only a short time.

The students decided to make the collection of books a school project and expressed hope that other student groups in the country would adopt similar projects.

Kennedy Named President-elect

Dr. Wallace A. Kennedy of FSU's Dept. of Psychology has been named president-elect of the Florida Psychological Association, which recently had its annual meeting in Daytona Beach.

Kennedy will serve one year as president-elect and then succeed Thomas Rich of USF as president. Associate professor of psychology and staff chairman for the Human Development Clinic at FSU, Kennedy received his BA, MA and PhD degrees from FSU.

Before joining the FSU faculty in 1957, he was an intern for the South Carolina Mental Health Division and a fellow in community mental health at Harvard Medical School.

He has done extensive research on grants by the U.S. Office of Education, National Science Foundation and other agencies. He is the author or co-author of some 20 publications, including a monograph, published in 1963: "A Normative Sample of Intelligence and Achievement of Negro Elementary School Children in the Southeastern United States."

Kennedy is the fourth Florida State psychologist to be elected president of the organization. Others have been Winthrop Kellogg, Richard W. Hubbard and Kent Miller.

Choppin Appointed

Dr. Gregory Choppin of FSU's Dept. of Chemistry has been appointed to the Committee on Nuclear Science of the National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council.

The National Academy of Sciences was created as a private non-profit corporation by an act of Congress signed by President Lincoln in 1863. It was to consist of distinguished scientists "dedicated to the furtherance of science and its use for the general welfare."

In 1916 President Wilson asked the Academy to develop research resources, and the National Research Council was organized.

Choppin will serve as chairman of the subcommittee on radiochemistry and also on the subcommittee on radioactivity standards.

At FSU he is a member of the Nuclear Science Advisory Committee and conducts nuclear research supported by the Atomic Energy Commission and U.S. Department of Interior.

Kimmel New Finance Director

Walter Kimmel has been named director of financial aid at FSU. Kimmel replaces William Sadler, who resigned to become president of the Junior College.

Mr. Kimmel is a director in a firm of Kentucky and graduated from the Georgia Institute of Technology in 1957 with a BS degree in industrial management. He was captain of the varsity basketball team at Georgia Tech in 1957.

After receiving his degree, he worked for Southern Bell Telephone Co. as an engineer in Panama City, Florida. He returned to Georgia Tech and is scheduled to receive his MS degree in Industrial Engineering in June.

At Georgia Tech he was an assistant registrar and was responsible for the administration of the campus and College Work-Study program.

At FSU, he will be responsible for the administration of loans, scholarships and other forms of student aid.

Fresh Season 36-11

Seminoles Split Three Games

University of Florida tournament-bound baseball team divided a three game series with the Clemson Tigers here this week, closing out its regular season.

The Seminoles won the first two games, 11-5 and 4-3, but dropped the third, 4-3 Wednesday.

The series, which opens the District tournament Thursday, now has a 3-0 record.

A four-run third inning was all that the Tigers needed Wednesday as Clemson hurler Ken Waldrop stopped the sluggers on just five hits. Gary Sprague, who had two of the FSU safeties, collected his fourth home run of the season when he sent Waldrop's first pitch over the right field fence.

Eddie Howell was tagged for his third loss of the season, against six hits.

On Monday Clemson appeared to be headed for a win, until the Seminole power finally got rolling in the eighth.

A four run second inning kept FSU at bay until the eighth, when pinch hitters Bob Canty and Randy Brown opened the frame with singles.

Another safety by pitcher Mary Stringfellow scored one run, and Sprague beat out an infield roller to load the bases.

With that impetus the Seminoles went on to capture an 11-5 win. Tuesday's game was highlighted by a new strikeout record set by left-hander Wayne Vincent.

The sophomore hurler struck out nine men in the game to give a season total of 119, seven better than the old record set by Tony Avitable in 1956.

FSU let a 3-1 lead slip away in the seventh inning Tuesday, but pulled the game out in the eighth. Sprague guided the Seminoles with their first run with a first inning homerun, and then added two more in the third on a bases loaded single by Pete Sarron.

Brown singled and Sarron walked to put runners on first and second with one out for the Tribe in the eighth. A double steal moved the runners up a base, and Mike Martin followed with a single to bring Brown home with the winning run.

Joe Pepper New Campus Champ

Joe Pepper and Willie Tyson won this summer's Intramural Men's and Women's Tennis tournaments, respectively, in last weekend's play. Pepper scored a 6-3, 6-4 victory over Myles Hollander largely on the strength of a bombing, flat first serve. Hollander showed fine steadiness of play, but he could not cope with the sting of Pepper's first delivery.

Earlier, Pepper had claimed a hard-earned semifinal triumph over the strong game of Bill Rumph 4-6, 6-2, 6-2.

Hollander gained his berth in the final round by downing Paul Dars 6-0, 6-1.

Pepper and Hollander also survived stiff contests in the quarterfinal round, which consisted of 10-game sets. Pepper defeated smooth striking Jim Hunter 10-7 and Hollander outlasted Norman Braswell 14-12.

No-Tap Sunday

A campus-wide bowling tournament for men and women has been scheduled at Gresham Lanes for 2 p.m. Sunday.

Entrants must sign up by May 28 at the Lanes and pay a $1.00 entry fee which covers both costs of the games and rental of shoes.

Each participant will bowl three games, and the winner will be determined by aggregate individual score. The system of scoring will be No-Tap, No-Split: 9 pins down on one ball counts as a strike and a split counts automatically as a spare. Questionable split variations will be judged by the officials.

Sports Car Rally Here Next Week

A sports car rally open to all students, faculty and staff members, sponsored by the University Union Recreation committee, will take place Saturday, June 4, at Campbell Stadium.

Each entrant will be required to follow a specified route in a given amount of time. There will be a number of landmarks along the route that a co-driver will be responsible for noting.

Both men and women drivers may compete, and rally director Richard Menden emphasized that "racing skill and a souped-up car are not necessary to win."

Drivers wishing to enter should sign up in room 321 University Union and be prepared to pay a $1.50 entry fee at that time. Descriptions of routes is June 3, and the rally will be limited to fifty cars.

"All sports cars including Mustangs, Barracudas and Stone Mustangs will be able to compete," said Menden, "however we will not be allowing American made compact cars (Volants, Falcons, etc.) to enter." "The rally will offer non-racing vehicles like the VW's a chance to win, because the event demands that so many non-speed factors be considered," he concluded.

A pre-rally meeting of all contestants will take place at 10:30 a.m. the day of the race, and the Rally itself gets under way at 1 p.m.

'Flambeau' Selects All-Americans

SEMINOLE SCORECARD

by HANK SCHOMBER
Flambeau Sports Editor

This week's selection by the "Flambeau" staff of an All-American baseball team, made up entirely of FSU ball players, is more than just an attempt to honor the Seminole team in a somewhat unique way.

After seeing the Seminoles in action against all of their opponents this season, we honestly feel that no member of any team FSU faced could break into the Tribe's starting line-up.

In fact, there are probably several FSU players sitting on the bench this year who would be starting for most any club the Tribe has faced.

The Seminoles' team batting average of well over .300, virtual first place rating in the "Collegiate Baseball" national poll, and the selection as the at-large entry to the District tournament are all obvious signs of their abilities as a team, and as individuals.

A somewhat less noticeable, but yet possibly even more important sign of the Seminoles' ability, is the large following of professional scouts that the team has accumulated.

During the latter part of the season it was a rare game that less than a half-dozen of the major league talent seekers were present with their stop watches and rating books, keeping tabs on the squad.

There is a good possibility that every member of the Tribe's starting nine could be drafted or offered a contract at the season's end. It is hard to think of a greater honor for a team.

Harfield's professional touch with the Seminoles this year, while it raised many eyebrows, certainly played a big part in bringing the Tribe through with a 36-11 season record.

Now, that touch will be applied in hopes of bringing home the National Championship.

There is a good chance he will be successful -- his team is composed of All-Americans.

WAYNE VINCENT
... All-American hurler.

The 1966 "Flambeau All-American College Baseball Team" shows a regular starting line-up composed of eight members of the FSU starting team, four Seminole pitchers and a host of Tribe substitutes. The All-American team was selected by members of the "Flambeau" staff.

Seven of the eight starters were unanimous choices for their positions, while the eighth, Maury Hopkins, who was recently injured, received a strong challenge from utility infielder Gary Lawrence for the third base spot.

Among the unanimous choices were catcher Randy Brown, first baseman Pete Sarron, second sacker Dick Fernandez and shortstop Gary Sprague.

The A-A pitching staff is highlighted by four lefthanded starters. Leading the group is sophomore hurler, Wayne Vincent, who currently has an 11-1 chart. Behind him is junior flinger Maury Stringfield, and senior Eddie Howell. Junior senior, Maury Brooks, is the fourth starter.

Righthanders Jim Helm and Sam Marks also received votes in balloting for pitchers.

Lawrence leads the "Seminole Renegades," a band of substitutes that round out the A-A team.

Soccer Match Sunday

The FSU Soccer Club will journey to Winter Park Sunday for a match with the Orange Soccer Club of Orlando.

Club spokesman Rod Jory said despite the fact that many of the Seminole booters have gone home for the summer, there are enough players still on campus to field a representative squad.

The kickers will have a practice tomorrow at 10:30 a.m.

Tribe Ranks Second In Poll

Southern Cal. Still Leading

FSU remained in second place in the latest college baseball poll as compiled by the newspaper "Collegiate Baseball" this week.

The Seminoles trail Southern California in the balloting by three points—the same margin the Trojans led in the last poll.

Both teams received 11 first place votes, USC, however, clung to a slim 301-298 point lead.

In third place behind the Seminoles was Ohio State with 279 points. Mississippi State and North Carolina, two of the teams FSU will be facing in the District III tournament next week, were ranked eighth and ninth respectively.

1. USC (11)	301
2. Florida State (11)	298
3. Ohio State (8)	279
4. St. Louis (6)	250
5. Washington State (5)	232
6. Arizona (4)	213
7. Western Michigan (1)	175

FSU Opera Guild Premieres 'The Quest' Next Weekend

The FSU Opera Guild's Crusades of the 13th Century provides the background and the music for the opera featuring the merchant, of Damascus, which was presented by the FSU Opera Guild June 10-11.

Enthusiastic "The Quest," the opera was written by Carl Vollrath, now in the faculty of Troy State College in Alabama, while he was a student at FSU. He also received the B.A.D. in music education at FSU in August 1964. He studied with Carlisle Floyd and in Boston.

The cantata role, Nicholas, represents the boy who, sometime between Easter and Pentecost of the year 1212, heard voices commanding him to lead the Crusade. How he led, and what happened to the thousands who followed him, form the action of the opera. It will be sung by two 16-year-olds, Mark Vorce and Eddie Barnes.

Collar To Discuss Auto Safety

Special Roger C. Collar, Chief Safety Officer for the Florida Highway Patrol, will discuss automobile safety this afternoon at 4 p.m. in the Union Browning Lounge.

Collar is the second speaker in the Forum Committee-sponsored

ROGER C. COLLAR

Wednesday afternoon forum series. The topic is quite timely in light of the attention focused on automobile safety by recent Congressional investigation, said Gary Wolfe, chairman of the Forum Committee. "Is this concern justified, and is the automobile accident rate due largely to the auto design? Or is the high rate still due to the drivers?" This question will be among the topics discussed," Wolfe explained. Such literature as "Unsafe At Any Speed" will also be considered. Coffee will be served at the forum. The lecture session will last approximately 25 minutes and will be followed by a 15 minute discussion period.

Collar, a graduate of the University of Miami, joined the Florida Highway Patrol in 1961 and was assigned to Leon County. In 1965 he was promoted to Lieutenant and assigned to the Governor's Office as Traffic Safety Coordinator.

With a promotion to Captain in 1963, Collar assumed his present position as Chief Safety Officer.
